P R E F A C E .

The necessity of revising and printing the city ordinances has long been felt by the city council; and commissioners, appointed in previous years for this purpose, have devoted more or less time to the subject. For reasons, however, which it is not necessary to state here, but little progress seems to have been made, up to the present year. Meanwhile, the old collection of ordinances being out of print, and great inconvenience being occasioned by that fact, the city council, in February last, appointed a committee, with instructions to cause the revision and printing of all the city ordinances, with such other matter as they might deem expedient, and they were authorized to employ such assistance as might be necessary. The committee subsequently employed the city solicitor to re-arrange, revise and prepare for publication, the city ordinances, in such manner as he might deem for the interest of the city, with power to engage such assistance as he might need during the progress of the work.

In accordance with these votes the present volume has been prepared. It contains (1) a summary or digest of all the acts of the legislature relating to the city of Boston, and of such general laws as it seemed to be desirable to insert; (2) the ordinances of the city; and (3) such notes, references to judicial decisions, and such historical statements, as were deemed necessary and proper.

In regard to the legislative provisions, it has often been a difficult question to determine what acts of the legislature should be incorporated in the present volume. Of course, all the special laws now in force relating to the city should be inserted. As to the general laws, it was thought that no fixed rule could safely be adopted, but that each case should depend on a careful judgment, based upon all the facts and considerations affecting the case. Some statutes, although general in their form, are more particularly applicable to Boston than to any other part of the commonwealth. In others, there are specific duties to be performed in this city in a different manner from what they are required to be performed in other places; while there are other statutes so general and universal in their application, that it was thought best to insert them for that reason.

In this department of the work there has been much difficulty and embarrassment from the fact, that when the general laws of the commonwealth were revised in 1835, there were a large number of special acts relating to the city of Boston, growing out of its peculiar wants, condition and circumstances, which were not expressly revised or repealed, and the Revised Statutes provided that this city should continue to have and exercise all the powers and privileges, and be subject to all the duties and liabilities, mentioned in the act establishing the city of Boston, and in the several acts specially relating to said city. At the same time, the Revised Statutes contain many general provisions upon the same subjects that are included in the special laws relating to the city of Boston, which obviously supersede and were intended to supersede the special provisions. The same fact is more obvious in many subsequent statutes, where the legislature have made general provisions, in effect extending special acts to all the towns in the commonwealth. Whether a general act is to be deemed an implied repeal of a special prior act, is of course a question depending upon a careful comparison of the two acts. In the present volume, the principles laid down in the case of Brown v. City of Lowell, (8 Metcalf's Rep. 172,) have been adopted as the rule of action. No special act has been regarded as repealed by implication by a general act, unless the latter contained strong terms upon which to found such a conclusion, and even then, such notes and references have been made as will enable the reader easily to examine the point for himself.

It will be noticed that the statutes have not been inserted at length, but are presented rather in the form of a digested summary, although the language of the acts has been generally used. It would have been much less laborious to insert the various statutes in chronological order, without undertaking to state precisely what the law now is, but it is obvious that this would have left a labor, always embarrassing and sometimes very difficult, to be performed by every person who should consult the work, in order to ascertain the present state of the law on a given subject. The City Charter, for instance, has been amended so often and in so many different parts, that it is necessary to consult several different acts of the legislature to find out what the present chartered rights and duties of the city are. Much trouble is saved by presenting a digested summary of the law as it now stands, the various amendments being all incorporated, and the original altered so as to correspond with the subsequent statutes. This course has been attended with considerable labor and constant liability to error; but all the statutes are so constantly referred to in the margin, and the notes are so frequent, that the means of correcting any error are always near at hand.

It is hardly necessary to state in this connection, that this work is intended for popular rather than professional use; and members of the legal profession will not, of course, be content with any digest of the statutes, but will go to the originals, an examination of which this work is not intended to supersede, although it is hoped that it may be of some use to them in pointing the way.

The ordinances contained in this volume have in general been recently revised and passed by the city council. When the committee was appointed, it was their understanding, and they had reason to know that it was the understanding of the city council, that the volume should be printed during the present year. It was not supposed that there would be time for any thing like a general revision of the ordinances, which would necessarily require much labor, from the fact that there had been no general revision since 1833. But upon examination it was found that there were so many ordinances upon the same subjects; there had been so many alterations and amendments, repeals and partial repeals, that it was impossible to make any useful collection without revising and submitting many of the ordinances to the city council for its approval. This has been done with most of them, and in some instances important alterations have been made. In those instances where no alterations seemed necessary, the ordinances have been printed from the original records, with this difference, that where there are several on one subject, they are placed together and the sections numbered continuously as one ordinance; but in all cases the dates of the ordinances are given in the margin.

When it is considered that the plan of this revision was not matured and the work itself was not actually commenced until the latter part of March last; that all the general and special laws relating to the city have been collated and digested, with notes and references to the leading decisions; that nearly all the old ordinances of the city have been revised ; and that several new and important ordinances have been made, it will not be denied, probably, that the work has been printed as soon as could reasonably be expected.

BOSTON, November, 1850.

1821, 110, § 1.

I. By an act of the legislature of Massachusetts, passed on the twenty-third day of February, eighteen hundred and twenty-two,<sup>1</sup> it was provided that the inhabitants of the town of Boston for all purposes, for which towns were by law incorporated in this commonwealth, should continue to be one body politic, in fact and in name, under the style and denomination of the City of Boston, and as such should have, exercise and enjoy, all the rights, immunities, powers and privileges, and should be subject to all the duties and obligations, then incumbent upon and appertaining to said town, as a municipal corporation. The legislature reserved the right to amend or alter this act whenever they might deem it expedient; and it was to be void unless the inhabitants of the town at a legal meeting should determine to adopt the same within twelve days. It was adopted on the fourth day of March in the same year, and the town immediately became a city.

1 Pick. Rep., 375.

<sup>1</sup> The act establishing the city of Boston was passed February 23, 1822, but is to be found and is properly cited as the stat. of 1821, ch. 110. For the act as originally adopted, and some of the principal acts of amendment, see the appendix to this volume.

II. The administration of all the fiscal, prudential, and municipal concerns of the city, with the conduct and government thereof, is vested in one principal officer, to be styled the mayor, one select council, consisting of eight persons, to be denominated the board of aldermen, and one more numerous council to consist of forty-eight persons, to be denominated the common council; which boards in their joint capacity are denominated the city council—together with such other board of officers as are hereinafter specified.

City council and other city officers.

III. By the second section of the city charter it was made the duty of the selectmen of Boston, as soon as might be after the passing of the act, to cause a new division of the town to be made into twelve wards, in such manner as to include an equal number of inhabitants in each ward, as nearly as conveniently might be, consistently with well defined limits; including, in such computation of numbers of inhabitants, persons of all descriptions, and taking the last census, made under the authority of the United States, as a basis for such computation. Power was given to the city council, from time to time, not oftener than once in ten years, to alter such divisions of wards, in such manner as to preserve, as nearly as might be, an equal number of inhabitants in each ward. This last provision has recently been amended, to the effect, that the division of the city into wards is to be so made as to include an equal number of legal voters in each ward.

IV. On the second Monday of December annually, the citizens qualified to vote in city affairs are required to meet within their respective wards, at such time and place as the mayor and aldermen may by their warrant direct and appoint; and the said citizens shall then choose by ballot one warden and one clerk, who shall be resident in said ward, who shall hold their offices for one year, and until others are appointed in their stead. It shall be the duty of the warden to preside at all meetings of the citizens of the ward and to preserve order therein. It shall be the duty of the clerk to make a fair and true record, and keep an exact journal of all the acts and votes of the citizens, at the ward meetings; to deliver over such records and journals, together with all other documents and papers held by him, in his said capacity, to his successor in office. In case of the absence of the warden at the opening of any annual meeting it shall be the duty of the clerk to call the citizens to order and preside until a warden is chosen by ballot.<sup>1</sup> If at any other meeting the warden be absent, the clerk is to preside until a moderator or warden pro tempore shall be chosen, which may be done by nomination and hand vote if the clerk so direct. The act of 1845, ch. 217, § 3, provides, however, that in case of the absence of any or either of the ward officers, at any meeting for elections, or other purposes, such office may be filled, pro tempore, by the legal voters present, which may be done by nomination and hand votes, if the voters present so determine. At the same meeting five inspectors of elections are to be chosen for the ward, being residents therein, by ballot, to hold their offices for one year. It shall be the duty of the warden and inspectors in each ward, to receive, sort, count and declare all votes, at all elections within such ward. And the warden, clerk, and inspectors, so chosen, shall respectively be under oath, faithfully and impartially to discharge their several duties, relative to all elections; which oath may be administered, by the clerk of such ward, to the warden, and by the latter to the clerk and inspectors, or by any justice of the peace of the county of Suffolk; and a certificate of such oath's having been administered shall be entered in the record or journal, to be kept by the clerk of such ward.

to his aid, any constable, or other peace officer, and also to command the aid and assistance of any citizen or citizens, who may be present; and any peace officer, or other citizen, neglecting or refusing to afford such aid, shall be taken and deemed to be guilty of a misdemeanor. The warden shall also have power and authority, by warrant, under his hand, to cause any person or persons who shall be guilty of any riotous, tumultuous, or disorderly conduct at such meeting, to be taken into custody, and restrained: Provided, however, that such restraint shall not continue after the adjournment or dissolution of such meeting: And Provided, further, that the person, so guilty of such disorderly conduct, shall be liable, notwithstanding such restraint, to be prosecuted and punished, in the same manner, as if such arrest had not been made.

VI. The citizens qualified to vote in city affairs, at their respective ward meetings, to be held on the second Monday in December annually, shall be called upon to give in their votes for one able and discreet person, being an inhabitant of the city, to be mayor of said city, for the term of one year. And all the votes so given in, in each ward, being sorted, counted, and declared by the warden and inspectors of elections, shall be recorded at large, by the clerk, in open ward meeting: and in making such declaration and record, the whole number of votes or ballots, given in, shall be distinctly stated, together with the name of every person voted for, and the number of votes given for each person respectively; such numbers to be expressed in words at length; and a transcript of such record, certified and authenticated by the warden, clerk, and a majority of the inspectors of elections for each ward, shall forthwith be transmitted or delivered by such ward clerk, to the clerk of the city. And it shall be the duty of the city clerk, forthwith to enter such returns, or a plain and intelligible abstract of them, as they are successively received, upon the journal of the proceedings of the mayor and aldermen, or some other book to be kept for that purpose. And it shall be the duty of the mayor and aldermen to meet together, within two days after such election, and to examine and compare all the said returns, and to ascertain whether any person has a majority of all the votes given for mayor; and in case a majority is so given, it shall be their duty to give notice thereof, in writing, to the person thus elected, and also to make the same known to the inhabitants of said city. But if, on such an examination no person appears to have a majority of all the votes given for mayor, the mayor and aldermen for the time being, shall issue their warrants for meetings of the respective wards, for the choice of a mayor, at such time and place, as they shall judge most convenient; and the same proceedings shall be had in all respects, as are herein before directed, until a mayor shall be chosen by a majority of all the voters, voting at such elections. And in case of the decease, inability, or absence of the mayor, and the same being declared and a vote passed by the aldermen and common council, respectively, declaring such cause, and the expediency of electing a mayor, for the time being, to supply the vacancy thus occasioned, it shall be lawful for the aldermen and common council to meet in convention, and elect a mayor to hold the said office until such occasion shall be removed, or until a new election.

VII. Whenever, on examination by the mayor and aldermen of the returns of votes given for mayor at the meetings of the wards holden for the purpose of electing that officer, last preceding the first Monday of January, in each year, no person shall appear to have a majority of all the votes given for mayor, the mayor and aldermen, by whom such examination is made, shall make a record of that fact, an attested copy of which it shall be the duty of the city clerk to produce and read, on the first Monday of January, in the presence of the members returned to serve as aldermen and common councilmen; and thereupon the oaths prescribed by law may be administered to the members elect, by any one of the justices of the supreme judicial court, or any judge of any court of record holden in said city, or by any justice of the peace for the county of Suffolk; and thereupon the members of the board of aldermen shall proceed to elect a chairman, and the common council a president, in their respective chambers, and being respectively organized, shall proceed to business in the same manner as is provided in the seventeenth section below, in case of the absence of the mayor:—and the board of aldermen shall forthwith issue their warrants for meetings of the citizens of the respective wards, for the choice of a mayor, at such time and place as they shall judge most convenient; and the same proceedings shall be had, in all respects, as are directed in and by the provisions of the preceding section and repeated from time to time, until a mayor shall be chosen, by a majority of all the voters voting at such elections.

VIII. In case any person elected mayor of the city shall refuse to accept the office, the same proceedings shall be had in all respects, as are herein before directed in cases wherein there has been no choice of mayor, until a mayor be chosen by a majority of votes. And in case of the unavoidable absence by sickness or otherwise, of the mayor elect, on the first Monday in January, the city government shall organize itself in the mode herein before provided, and may proceed to business in the same manner as if the mayor were present.

IX. Whenever it shall appear, by the regular returns of the elections of the city officers, that a mayor has not been chosen, or that a full board of aldermen has not been elected, such of the board of aldermen, whether they constitute a quorum or not, as may have been chosen, shall issue their warrant, in usual form, for the election of a mayor, or such members of the board of aldermen as may be necessary, and the same proceedings shall be had and repeated, until the election of a mayor and aldermen shall be completed, and all vacancies be filled in the said board; and in case neither a mayor nor any aldermen shall be elected at the usual time for electing the same, and after the powers of the former mayor, and mayor and aldermen, XI. The citizens in their respective ward meetings, to be held on the second Monday of December, annually, shall be called upon to give in their votes for eight persons, being inhabitants of said city, to constitute the board of aldermen, for the ensuing year; and all the votes so given, being sorted, counted, and declared by the warden and inspectors shall be recorded at large, by the clerk, in open ward meeting; and in making such declaration and record, the whole number of votes or ballots given in shall be particularly stated, together with the name of every person voted for, and the number of votes given for each person; and a transcript of such record, certified by the warden and clerk, and a majority of the inspectors of each ward, shall, by the said clerk, within two days, be transmitted to the city clerk; whereupon the same proceedings shall be had, to ascertain and determine the persons chosen as aldermen, as are herein before directed in regard to the choice of mayor, and for a new election, in case of the whole number required not being chosen at the first election. And each alderman, so chosen, shall be duly notified in writing of his election by the mayor and aldermen for the time being.

XII. In case of the death or resignation of any member of the board of aldermen, the citizens of Boston shall have power to fill such vacancy, at any regular meeting that may thereafter be convened for that purpose.

XIII. Whenever it shall appear to the mayor and aldermen, that there is a vacancy in either the board of aldermen, or in the common council, or in any of the city or ward offices, it shall be the duty of the mayor and aldermen to issue their warrant for elections, in due form, to fill all such vacancies in each and all of the said boards and offices, at such time and place as in their judgment may be deemed advisable.

But, in case four persons are not chosen at the first ballot, a new ballot shall be opened for a number of common councilmen, sufficient to complete the number of four; and the same proceedings shall be had, as before directed, until the number of four shall be duly chosen; Provided, however, that if the said elections cannot conveniently be completed on such day, the same may be adjourned to another day, for that purpose, not longer distant than three days. More especially they shall have power to make all such needful and salutary by-laws, as towns by the laws of this commonwealth have power to make and establish, and to annex penalties, not exceeding twenty dollars, for the breach thereof, which by-laws shall take effect and be in force from and after the times therein respectively limited, without the sanction or confirmation of any court, or other authority whatsoever; Provided, that such by-laws shall not be repugnant to the constitution and laws of this commonwealth:<sup>1</sup> And provided also, that the same shall be liable to be annulled by the legislature thereof. commonwealth, either in express terms or by reasonable inference. The general authority of towns to raise money by the assessment of taxes on the inhabitants, was given by the statute of 1785, ch. 75, § 7, "for the settlement, maintenance and support of the ministry, schools, the poor, and other necessary charges arising within the same town," the most of which provision is re-enacted in the Revised Statutes, ch. 15, § 12. The only difficulty in the construction of this provision has been as to what are "other necessary charges," for which towns are authorized to raise money. Upon this point there have been several decisions. In the case of Stetson v. Kempton, (13 Massachusetts Reports 272,) it was held, that towns have no authority in time of war and hostile invasion, to raise money to give additional wages to the militia and for other purposes of defence. The court say, that the erection of public buildings for the accommodation of the inhabitants, such as town houses to assemble in, and market houses for the sale of provisions, may also be a proper town charge, and may come within the fair meaning of the term necessary, for these may be essential to the comfort and convenience of the citizens. But it cannot be supposed that the building of a theatre, a circus, or any other place of mere amusement, at the expense of the town, could be justified under the term necessary town charges. Nor could the inhabitants be lawfully taxed for the purpose of raising a statue or a monument, these being matters of taste, and not of necessity; unless in populous and wealthy towns, they should be thought suitable ornaments to buildings or squares, the raising and maintenance of which are within the duty and care of the governors or officers of such towns. In Allen v. Inhabitants of Taunton, (19 Pick. Rep. 485,) it was held, that a town is authorized to appropriate money for the repair of fire engines, used for the purpose of extinguishing fires therein, whether they belong to the town or were purchased by private subscription; and in the case of Hardy v. Inhabitants of Waltham, (3 Metcalf's Rep. 163,) it was held, that a town has authority to appropriate money for the construction of reservoirs for water to supply fire engines. In the case of Spaulding v. City of Lowell, (23 Pick. Rep. 71,) it was held, that cities and towns in this commonwealth, by virtue of their general powers, count thereof; and for these purposes, may either elect such assessors, and assistant assessors, as may be needful, or provide for the appointment or election of the same, or any of them, by the mayor and aldermen, or by the citizens, as in their judgment may be most conducive to the public good, and may also require of all persons entrusted with the collection, custody, or disbursement of public moneys, such bonds with such conditions and such sureties, as the case may in their judgments require.

City council may provide for the appointment of city officers. 1821, 110, § 16.

XXV. The said city council shall have power, and they are authorized to provide for the appointment or election of all necessary officers, for the good government of said city, not otherwise provided for; to prescribe their duties, and fix their compensation, and to choose a register of deeds, whenever the city shall compose one county. The city council also shall have the care and superintendence of have authority in their corporate capacity, to build a market house, to appropriate money therefor, and to assess the same upon the inhabitants. "To bring any particular subject," the court remark, "within this description of necessary town charges, it must appear to be money necessary to the execution of some corporate power, the enjoyment of some corporate right, or the performance of some corporate duty, as established by law, or long usage." A town has no authority to raise money to aid in the construction of a road which by law is to be made at the expense of the county, and consequently a tax laid by the town for the purpose of collecting the money is illegal and void. A vote by a town appointing a committee to appropriate money for constructing such road, is an illegal and void act; and a contract for constructing it entered into by the committee in behalf of the town, will not be binding upon the town. Parsons v. Inhabitants of Goshen, (11 Pick. Rep. 396.) A town has authority to provide for the support of a public clock, and to assess the expense thereof upon the inhabitants of the town. Willard v. Inhabitants of Newburyport, (12 Pick. Rep. 227.) A town is authorized to indemnify its officers, against any liability which they may incur in the bona fide discharge of their duties, although it turn out that they have exceeded their legal rights and authority. Nelson v. Milford, (7 Pick. Rep. 18); Bancroft v. Lynnfield, (18 ibid, 566.) By the act of 1847, ch. 37, whenever any city or town shall have voted to raise by taxation, or by pledge of its credit, or to pay over, from moneys in its treasury, any sum or sums of money, for any other purpose or purposes, than those for which it may have the legal right and power so to do, the supreme judicial court is authorized to interfere and prevent the same, upon the suit or petition of any ten inhabitants of such city or town who are liable to be taxed therein.

And a transcript of such record, certified by the warden, clerk, and a majority of the inspectors of elections in such ward, shall forthwith be transmitted or delivered by each ward clerk to the clerk of the city. Line between Boston and Roxbury.

(Selectmen's minutes, from 1786 to 1792,
p. 119.)

1. It appears, from the records of the selectmen of the town of Boston, May 20, 1788, that the following boundary line between Boston and Roxbury was agreed upon by the selectmen of both towns, and the agreement was accepted by the selectmen of Boston, to wit;—Beginning at the mouth of the creek which opens into the bay leading to Cambridge, and as the creek runs until it comes in a range with the fence and trees between the land now occupied by the widow Susannah Davis, formerly John Richardson, Esquire's, and the land now belonging to the heirs of Samuel Wells, Esq., deceased, formerly Mr. Minot's, then across the street or highway, until it comes to a large stone standing endwise in the fence on the easterly side of said street or highway, and from thence south forty-three degrees east to a large stone standing endwise in the ground about eighty feet from the said street or highway, marked B. on the easterly side, and R. on the westerly side, and from thence the same course to a large stone standing in the meadow, marked B. on the northwesterly side, and R. on the southeasterly side; from thence turning and running north fifty-eight degrees, east by a straight line until it comes to a stone affixed in Lamb's Dam, (so called) and from thence to the creek, and as said creek runs into the bay between the towns of Boston and Dorchester.

Ratification of the line agreed upon between

2. An act was passed, April 30, 1787, for altering part of the boundary line between the towns of Boston and

Roxbury, and for ratifying an agreement made between the said towns for that purpose, reciting, that that part of the boundary line between the towns of Boston and Roxbury, which crossed Lamb's Meadow, so called, was nearly obliterated, and that the selectmen of said towns had petitioned the general court, that a new direct line might be established in lieu thereof, agreeably to a plan mutually agreed on by the said towns; and that it appeared reasonable that said agreement should be ratified and confirmed: and declaring that the agreement entered into between the towns of Boston and Roxbury, for altering that part of the boundary line between the said towns, which crossed Lamb's Meadow, so called, be ratified and confirmed.

Roxbury.

3. It was also provided, that a line in lieu of the aforesaid obliterated boundary line, should in all future perambulations thereof, be run in the following manner, that is to say, by a straight line in the same direction with the then existing line from the road leading from Boston to Roxbury, from the most easterly boundary-marked stone in the said Lamb's Meadow, one chain and forty-one links; thence turning and running north fifty-eight degrees east, by a straight line across the said meadow, until it strikes the ancient boundary mark in Lamb's Dam, so called.

Boston and Roxbury declared.
Ibid, § 2.

4. By an act passed in 1836, it was provided, that the following lines, which have been mutually agreed upon between the city of Boston and the town of Roxbury, shall thereafter constitute and be considered the boundary lines in the section to which they refer, between said city and said town, to wit; beginning at a stone monument on the southwesterly side of the dyke that forms the southwesterly boundary of the Empty Basin, so called, from which point the centre of the steeple of Park Street meeting-house, in said city, bears north, fifty-three degrees east, this line to run in this direction from the point above mentioned, about two hundred and ninety rods, until it strikes the centre of the main channel westerly of the rope-walk lands, in said city; thence turning and running northerly in the centre of said channel, about one hundred and twenty-five rods, to a point two hundred feet distant, southerly, from the main branch of the Mill Dam, or Western Avenue; thence turning nearly at right angles, and running westerly nearly on a parallel line with said Mill Dam, until it strikes the branch thereof leading to Roxbury, at which point a stone monument has been erected. And the territory and jurisdiction on either side of the said lines as thereby established, were accordingly confirmed to said city and town respectively.

Boston and
Roxbury altered.
1837, 202, § 1.

5. By an act passed in 1837, the boundary line between the city of Boston and the town of Roxbury, which then ran on the easterly side of Plymouth Street, was altered, so that the same was thereafter established as follows, to wit; beginning at a stone monument, which then marked the south corner bound of said city, being one hundred and forty-one feet easterly of said Plymouth Street, and from the said monument running on a straight line in a north-easterly direction to the Centre Point, (so called,) where the Roxbury old and new channels form a junction, being about four thousand five hundred feet from the said monument.

Further altered.
Ibid, § 2.

6. The boundary line between the said city and town which then passed over a part of Tremont Street, in said city, was also altered, so that the same was thereafter established as follows, to wit; beginning on the south-easterly side of said Tremont Street, at the centre of a bridge then erected across the creek which divides the said city from said town, and thence running northwesterly at right angles with said Tremont Street, about two hundred and fifty feet, until it intersects the then boundary line between said city and town, in the middle of said creek.

Further altered.

7. The boundary line between the city of Boston and the city of Roxbury, southeasterly of Harrison Avenue, was altered and established, by an act passed in 1850, as follows, to wit; beginning at a point in the present boundary line at the centre of the Roxbury Canal, (so called,) thence running in the centre of said canal to a point in the same, situate one thousand and seven feet from the south-easterly side of Harrison Avenue, measuring southeasterly and in the range of the westerly side of Worcester Street in said Boston, thence running in a straight line northeasterly about twenty-six hundred and twenty-two feet to a pile monument in the Roxbury Channel in the present line; and all that portion of land or flats northwest of the line thereby established, was thereby annexed to and made part of the said city of Boston, in the county of Suffolk: Provided, however, that the territory so transferred, shall, for the purpose of electing senators, continue to be and remain, a part of the city of Roxbury; and that all the inhabitants residing upon it shall, until otherwise constitutionally provided, always enjoy, in relation to the election of senators, all the rights and privileges of, and in relation to, voting in the said city of Roxbury, which they would have possessed if this act had not passed, such voting to be in the ward, whereof the place of voting shall be for the time being, nearest the westerly corner of the said territory.

8. The mayor and aldermen of the city of Boston shall cause suitable monuments to be erected and continued, showing the line between the said city of Boston, as it has existed by said territory hitherto, and shall cause the same to be perambulated in like manner and with the like penalties for neglect, as now by law is or are provided in respect to other boundary lines of cities and towns, such penalties to be recovered against the said city of Boston.

9. The mayor and aldermen of the city of Boston shall annually furnish to the city authorities of Roxbury, forty-eight hours at least before any senatorial election, correct lists, so far as may be ascertainable from the records and doings of the said city of Boston or any of its officers, of all persons resident in the territory hereby set off, who shall be entitled to vote for senators as aforesaid, in the said city of Roxbury: and the said city of Boston, for every neglect of its said mayor and aldermen so to furnish such list, shall forfeit the sum of one hundred dollars; and for the making of a false return in respect to any part of such list, shall forfeit the sum of twenty dollars for every name in respect to which a false return shall have been made; to be recovered in the same manner as is provided

1803, 111, § 1.

10. By the act of annexation of South Boston, passed March 6, 1804, it was provided that all that part of Dorchester, lying northeast of the following line, viz: Beginning at a stake and stones at Old Harbor, so called, at the southwest corner of land formerly belonging to John Champney, running north thirty-seven and one half degrees west, to a large elm tree, marked D. on the southwest side, and B. on the northeast side, standing on land belonging to the heirs of Thomas Bird, deceased; then running the same course to a heap of stones on the southeast side of the road; thence across the road, the same course, to a heap of stones on the northwest side; thence on the same course to a black oak tree, standing on a small hummock, marked D. on one side, and B. on the other side, upon land of Ebenezer Clap, jr.; thence the same course till it comes to Boston Harbor, with the inhabitants thereon, be annexed to the town of Boston, in the county of Suffolk, and be considered and deemed to be a part of the town of Boston.

Lots of land to public use in South Boston.

11. It was further provided by the same act, that the proprietors of the said tract, should assign and set apart three lots of land on the same, for public use, viz: one lot for the purpose of a public market place, one lot for a school house, and one lot for a burial ground, to the satisfaction and acceptance of the selectmen of the town of Boston; or in case the said selectmen and proprietors should not agree upon the said lots, it should be lawful for the supreme judicial court, at any session thereof in the said county of Suffolk, upon application of the said selectmen, to nominate and appoint three disinterested freeholders within the commonwealth, and not inhabitants of said town of Boston, to assign and set off the three lots aforesaid, by metes and bounds; and the report of the said freeholders, or any two of them, being made and returned to, and accepted by the said court, at any session thereof in said county, should be final and binding upon all parties; and the lots of land by them assigned and set off as aforesaid, should thenceforth vest in the said town of Boston forever, without any compensation to be made therefor by the town; but if the person or persons whose land should be assigned and set apart as aforesaid, should demand compensation therefor, the same should be appraised by three freeholders to be appointed as aforesaid, who should also assess upon the other proprietors, the sum or sums which each should be holden to pay to the person whose lands might be thus assigned for public use; and the report of said freeholders or any two of them, being made and returned to, and accepted by said court, judgment thereon should be final, and execution awarded as in cases of reports by referees, under a rule of court.

12. The selectmen of Boston were authorized to lay out such streets and lanes through the said tract, as in their judgment might be for the common benefit of the said proprietors and of said town of Boston; a reasonable attention being paid to the wishes of the proprietors; and in case of disagreement between the selectmen and proprietors, or either of them, the same proceedings were to be had as were provided by law in other cases for laying out town ways: provided, only, that no damages or compensation should be allowed to any proprietor for such streets and lanes as might be laid out within twelve months from the passing of this act: and provided, also, that the town of Boston should not be obliged to complete the streets laid out by their selectmen pursuant to this act, sooner than they might deem it expedient so to do.<sup>1</sup>

BOSTON SOUTH BRIDGE.

Incorporation of Boston South Bridge.
1803, 113, §§ 1, 2,
3, 5, 6, 8.

1. By an act passed March 6, 1804, William Tudor, Gardiner Greene, Jonathan Mason and Harrison Gray Otis, and those who should become their associates, were made a corporation, under the name of "The Proprietors of the Boston South Bridge." Provisions were made for organization, the rates of toll, the amount to be paid to vessels passing the draw, and the indemnity to be paid to persons whose land should be taken; and a penalty of not more than fifty nor less than twenty dollars was imposed upon the corporation, for every neglect or refusal to open the draw, or unnecessary detention of any vessel about to pass. It was also provided that the act should be void, if the corporation should refuse or neglect to build and complete the bridge for the space of three years. The provision for the payment to vessels passing the draw was repealed by an act passed March 12, 1830.

Width and manner of building and maintaining said bridge.
1803, 113, § 4.

2. The fourth section of the same act provided, that the bridge should be built of good and sufficient materials, not less than forty feet wide, and well covered with plank or timber, suitable for such a bridge, with sufficient rails on each side for the safety of travellers and protection of foot passengers; that it should be kept accommodated with not less than twenty lamps, which should be well supplied with oil, and lighted in due season, and kept burning until midnight; that there should be made a good and sufficient draw or passage way, at least thirty feet wide, in the channel over which said bridge should be built, proper for the passing and repassing of vessels, through which vessels might pass free of toll; that there should be erected at said draw and maintained in good repair, a well constructed and substantial pier or wharf on each side of the bridge, and adjoining to the draw, every way sufficient for vessels to lie at securely; that the draw should be lifted for all vessels without delay and without toll, except for boats passing for pleasure; that the proprietors might make the leaves of the draw twenty feet long, instead of the width of the bridge; and that the bridge should be kept in good, safe and passable repair for the term of seventy years from the day of the first opening of the bridge for passengers, and at the expiration of said term should be surrendered to the commonwealth, who should be deemed the successor of the corporation.

3. On the 23d of June, 1831, after the Boston Free Bridge had been built, and the Boston South Bridge was greatly diminished in value, in consequence thereof, an act was passed, authorizing and empowering the proprietors of the Boston South Bridge to sell, assign, and transfer to the city of Boston, the franchise and materials of said Boston South Bridge, to have and to hold the same to the said city and its successors forever; provided, that no toll or duty should ever be exacted or paid for any travel over said bridge, or passing the draw of the same, and the said city should always be held liable to keep said bridge and draw in good repair, and to raise the draw of said bridge, and afford all necessary and proper accommodation to vessels that have occasion to pass the same by night or by day, and should keep said bridge sufficiently lighted. This act also authorized the proprietors to surrender the franchise to the commonwealth, in case the city of Boston should not, before the 15th of September in the same year, pay them such sum as should be agreed upon, and receive a transfer.

discontinue said bridge, as a pass way, and at any time between the passing of this act, and the first day of August then next, if the city of Boston, before the first day of May then next, should not pay to said proprietors such sum of money as might be agreed upon by them and the said city, for a transfer and assignment of the franchise and materials of said bridge, as above provided, and to take up and remove the materials.

5. On the 12th of March, 1832, the joint committee of the city council upon the subject was authorized to agree with the proprietors of the Boston South Bridge for the purchase of their franchise. On the 2d of April they made their report, that the proprietors offered to sell, for a sum not less than thirty-five hundred dollars; and recommended that the offer be accepted. This report was accepted by the city council. A vote was passed by the corporation, April 19, 1832, authorizing the president and clerk to execute a deed to the city; and a deed was executed accordingly, dated April 19, in consideration of $3500, conveying to the city of Boston and its successors "all that the franchise and also all the materials of the Boston South Bridge, together with the buildings, rights, wharves and real estate of the said corporation, and every part and parcel thereof, whatsoever the same may be, and wheresoever situate, with all the privileges, appurtenances and immunities of every description to the granted premises and any part thereof in any wise appertaining,"—"subject nevertheless always to all the provisoes, terms, duties, conditions and tenure in the aforesaid acts of the said commonwealth set forth and expressed."

Bridge Corporation.
Authority to build a bridge.

and nearly in the direction of the Dorchester turnpike, and to erect a wharf or pier on each side of said bridge, near said draws, for the accommodation of vessels passing through said bridge; such bridge and wharves to be built in such manner as the city government of Boston should approve: Provided, however, that said corporation should be holden to make compensation to any person, or corporation, whose land should be appropriated to the use of said bridge.

7. It was further enacted that no toll or duty should ever be exacted or paid, for any travel over said bridge, or passing the draws of the same; and that said corporation should always be held liable to keep said bridge and draws in good repair, and to raise the draw of said bridge, and afford all necessary and proper accommodation to vessels, that should have occasion to pass the same by night or by day, and should keep said bridge sufficiently lighted; and if any vessel should be unreasonably delayed or hindered in passing said draw, by the negligence of said corporation or their agents, in discharging the duties enjoined on them by this act, the owners or commanders of such vessels should recover reasonable damage therefor, of said corporation, in an action on the case, before any court proper to try the same; and if the said corporation should not, within three years from the passing of this act, locate, construct, build, and complete said bridge, agreeably to the provisions of this act, then the act should be null and void:

Provided, that whenever the city government of Boston should assume the care and obligations of keeping said bridge in repair, lighting the same, and providing facilities for raising said draw or draws, as aforesaid, then the obligations imposed on said corporation to that effect, should be annulled, and the same should devolve on the said city government; in which case the damages mentioned in this section should be sued for, before any court proper to try the same, in either of the counties of Middlesex or Essex. But unless the city government should assume the care and obligations aforesaid, the said corporation, before commencing the building of said bridge, should furnish ade-

8. The fourth section provided for the mode of recovery of compensation for land taken.

at liberty to

9. It was further enacted, that if the city government of Boston should, within three months from the passing of this act, determine, by a concurrent vote of both branches of the said city government, to erect said bridge, they should be at liberty so to do, on the same terms and conditions as said Boston Free Bridge Corporation were otherwise, by the provisions of this act, authorized to erect the same.<sup>1</sup>

Free Bridge, &c. to the city of Boston.
City Records,
vol. 5, p. 44.

10. On the 5th of February, 1827, the city council passed a resolve, that, in case the Boston Free Bridge Corporation should build a bridge, such as the city council should direct and approve, and should locate it to the satisfaction of said council, it would be expedient for the city to accept the same ; and to assume the care and obligation of keeping said bridge in repair, and to provide for lighting the same, and for raising the draw or draws thereof as long as South Boston should remain a part of the city of Boston, upon such terms and conditions as should be required by the city council. On the 11th of August, 1828, a committee was appointed by the city council, with full power to accept from the Boston Free Bridge Corporation the surrender of the free bridge, with its abutments, on the compliance by the corporation with the terms and conditions prescribed, and to submit all matters in dispute to arbitration. The committee reported, October 7, 1828, that they had submitted the same to the arbitration of Loammi Baldwin, Samuel Hubbard and Willard Phillips, Esquires, who had made an award ; and that the requisite deeds had been delivered, on the second of October, and the sum of sixteen hundred and seven dollars, paid to the city by the corporation, upon which delivery and payment, the obliga-

The corporation also gave notice of their election to complete the northerly abutment, and claimed the return of four hundred and seventy-four dollars, according to the award, which was returned accordingly. By the deed of the corporation, which was executed by Francis J. Oliver, the president, on September 26, 1828, pursuant to a vote of the corporation, passed September 24, the Boston Free Bridge Corporation surrendered and conveyed the said bridge and abutments, wharves, &c. to the city of Boston, upon the terms and conditions on which the said city agreed to accept the same, by the resolve of February 5, 1827; and also assigned to the city a deed from Gardner Greene, dated August 21, 1828, and a deed from John T. 14. No part of the wharves or piers, which the city of Boston is authorized to construct by virtue of the act last cited, shall be maintained within the distance of forty feet of any wharf or pier which shall have been or may hereafter be lawfully constructed by any individual or individuals.

Dow*, (10 Metc. 382.)

<sup>2</sup> A by-law of a town imposed a penalty of $10 on any person permitting his dog to go at large in the town, unless the dog should be licensed to go at large, and should wear a collar with the name of the owner or keeper, and the word "licensed" distinctly marked thereon; and the further penalty of $10, if said dog should wear a collar without license. Held, that although the latter part of this section might be repugnant to the Rev. 3. By the Revised Statutes it is provided that the hospital establishment on Rainsford Island, the island itself, and all property thereon, belonging to or connected with the said hospital establishment, shall be under the sole care of the mayor and aldermen of Boston; who shall appoint all such officers and servants as they shall deem necessary, prescribe their respective duties, and establish their compensation.

4. The said mayor and aldermen shall, annually in the month of January, file in the office of the secretary of the commonwealth, an exact account of the state of the property of the commonwealth belonging to, or connected with, the said hospital establishment, and also of all money expended thereon, in the course of the preceding year.<sup>1</sup>

5. A resolve was passed, April 16, 1846, that his excellency the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the council, be authorized and requested to inquire into and ascertain the title of the commonwealth to Rainsford Island, in the harbor of Boston, and to the State Arsenal, in the city of Boston, and that the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the council, have power to release unto the city of Boston, all the right and title of the com-

<sup>1</sup> By stat. 1839, c. 79, a new provision was made respecting the accounts of expenses on Rainsford Island, but that statute was repealed by stat. 1840, c. 88. By stat. 1841, c. 96, several new provisions were enacted, and the above sections of the Revised Statutes were repealed, but the 4th section contained a provision, that the act should take effect, if the city council of Boston should accept the same, within sixty days after its passage; and it does not appear that they ever did accept it. monwealth to said island and arsenal, upon such terms and considerations, as, in their judgment, the interests of the commonwealth may require.

6. No earth or stones shall be taken from the island, called Bird Island, in Boston harbor, in the county of Suffolk, without license first had and obtained of the mayor and aldermen of the city of Boston, for that purpose, in writing, by the person taking the same, specifying the quantity allowed to be removed, and the object of removing it. And every person, who, without permission obtained as aforesaid, shall remove any earth or stones from the said island, in any boat, or in any ship or vessel whatsoever, shall forfeit and pay for each offence, the sum of twenty dollars to the use of the said city, to be recovered by the mayor and aldermen of the said city, by an action of debt in any court proper to try the same.

7. If any person shall wilfully carry away, from any island within the harbor of Boston, or from any beach adjacent thereto, any earth, gravel, stone, or other material composing such island or beach, without the consent of the owner thereof, the person or persons so offending shall forfeit and pay, for each offence, to the use of the commonwealth, a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, nor less than five dollars, to be recovered by indictment in any court competent to try the same; provided, that this act shall not be construed to prevent the taking of shell fish from such islands and beaches.<sup>1</sup>

Penalty for carrying away earth, gravel, &c., from islands in the harbor.
1834, 168, § 1.

<sup>1</sup> The act of 1845, ch. 117, imposed a penalty on any person who should take, carry away or remove any stones, gravel or sand, from beaches in the town of Chelsea. In the case of Commonwealth v. Tewksbury, (11 Metc. 55) it was held that this act was passed for the purpose of protecting the harbor of Boston, and extended as well to the owners of the soil as to strangers; but that it was not such a taking of private property and appropriating it to public uses, within the meaning of the Declaration of Rights, art. 10, as to render it unconstitutional and void, although no compensation was therein provided for the owners. By the act of 1846, ch. 206, the first mentioned act was repealed as to part of said Tewksbury's beaches in Chelsea, and $500 were ordered to be paid him out of the treasury of the commonwealth, "as an indemnity for the loss suffered by him under the operation of said act, by reason of being unnecessarily debarred from the use of his land, for the purpose, as was intended, of securing the harbor of Boston." See also act of 1847, c. 168.

Penalty for building a fire on Spectacle Island.
Ibid, § 2.

8. If any person shall wilfully build a fire on Spectacle Island, in the harbor aforesaid, without the consent of the owner or owners thereof such person shall suffer the like forfeiture, and to be recovered and appropriated in like manner as is provided in the preceding section.

HARBOR LINES.

Line in the harbor from Free bridge to Warren bridge established.
1837, 229, § 1.

9. By an act passed April 19, 1837, the line described in the following section, from the Free Bridge in the harbor of Boston to Warren Bridge in said harbor, was established as one of the lines in said harbor, beyond which no wharf or pier should ever be extended into and over the tide water of the commonwealth.<sup>1</sup>

Description of the line.
Ibid, § 2.

10. The said line begins at the east end of the north abutment of the Free Bridge, and runs straight to the southerly corner of Brown's wharf; thence, by the end of the same, and of Wright's four wharves, fronting on the channel, to the east corner of Wright's northeast wharf; thence, on a straight line, to the south corner of Wales's wharf, and by the end to the east angle of the same; thence from this last point straight to the south corner of Arch wharf; the line then follows the end of the last and Otis's wharf to the east corner of the last; the direction is then straight to the southeast angle of Foster's south wharf; then straight to the south corner of Rowe's wharf. From this point in a straight direction to the south corner of Long wharf; thence straight to the south angle of the advanced part of the said wharf, and by the end of the same to the east corner thereof; thence the line is straight to the east end of Union wharf. From the last point straight to the southeast corner of Battery wharf. Here the three next lines commence to advance further into deep water than the following wharves, to the west corner of Gray's, and are thus drawn through the southeast angle of Battery

This portion of the line fixed by 1850, 216.

<sup>1</sup> A building which extends into the harbor of Boston, beyond the commissioners' line established under the acts of 1837, ch. 229, and 1840, ch. 35, and which is also below low water mark, and an obstruction to the navigation, is a public nuisance, notwithstanding it was erected previous to the passing of those acts. Garey v. Ellis, (1 Cushing's R. 306.)

and the west corner of Gray's wharf; a circular arc is struck, with a radius of twelve hundred feet, and three equal chords of four hundred and seventy feet are drawn upon this arc: then from Battery wharf the line is northerly four hundred and seventy feet, forming an angle of twenty-seven degrees and fifteen minutes with the chord of the said arc. From the end of the last the line is also four hundred and seventy feet long, and parallel with the said chord. From the end of the last mentioned line the line is four hundred and seventy feet to the west corner of Gray's wharf, forming the same angle with the chord of the whole arc as that from Battery wharf. From Gray's the line is straight to the north corner of Vinal's wharf. The line then passes along the end of this and Brown's wharf to the west corner of the last; thence straight crossing Charles River Bridge to the northeast corner of Trull's wharf; thence the line is straight to the south abutment of Warren Bridge. Which said line thus described is part of the line reported by commissioners appointed under the resolve, passed the fifth of March, in the year one thousand eight hundred and thirty-five, to survey the harbor of Boston, and by said commissioners drawn and defined on plans by them taken, and deposited in the library, excepting that the line herein described and intended, varies from the line of said commissioners by crossing Charles River Bridge in a straight line from Brown's wharf to Trull's wharf, as above expressed.

11. It was prescribed by the said act, that no wharf, pier or building, or incumbrance of any kind should ever be extended beyond the said line into or over the tide water in said harbor.

Wharves, &c.,
not to be extended beyond the line.
1850, 216, § 2.

12. It was also prescribed that no person should enlarge or extend any wharf or pier, which was then erected on the inner side of said line, further towards the said line than such wharf or pier then stood, or than the same might have been lawfully enlarged or extended before the passing of the said act, without leave first obtained from the legislature.

No wharf, &c., to be extended towards the line
without leave.
1837, 229, § 4.
1850, 216, § 3.

No wharf, &c., to be erected or extended in the harbor.
1837, 239, § 5.

13. No person shall in any other part of the said harbor of Boston, belonging to the commonwealth, erect or cause to be erected any wharf or pier, or begin to erect any wharf or pier therein, or place any stones, wood or other materials in said harbor, or dig down or remove any of the land covered with water at low tide, in said harbor, with intent to erect any wharf or pier therein, or to enlarge or extend any wharf or pier now erected; provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to restrain or control the lawful rights of the owners of any lands or flats in said harbor.

Penalty.
Ibid, § 6.

14. Every person offending against the provisions of the five preceding sections, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to be prosecuted therefor, by indictment or information in any court of competent jurisdiction, and on conviction shall be punished by a fine not less than one thousand dollars, nor more than five thousand dollars, for every offence, and any erection or obstruction which shall be made, contrary to the provisions and intent of said five preceding sections, shall be liable to be removed and abated as a public nuisance, in the manner heretofore provided for the removal and abatement of nuisances on the public highways.

Erection may be abated as a nuisance.

Additional lines
established.
1840, 35, § 1.

15. By an act passed March 17, 1840, the lines described in the four following sections were established as the lines of the channel of the harbor of Boston, beyond which no wharf or pier should ever be extended into and over the tide water of the commonwealth.

Lines between South Boston
free bridge and the old South
Boston bridge.
Ibid, § 2.

16. The line between South Boston free bridge and the old South Boston bridge on the north side of the channel, begins at the east end of the north abutment of the South Boston free bridge, and runs westerly to the east corner of Wright's wharf, at the westerly side of said bridge, being forty-six feet from the west end of said abutment; thence westerly till it meets the northeasterly corner of the first wharf belonging to the South Cove Corporation; thence southerly by the ends of the wharves of said corporation, as now built, to Heath's wharf, and by the end of Heath's wharf to the southerly corner thereof: thence southerly to South Boston old bridge, by a line drawn at right angles with said bridge, from a point two hundred and ninety-three feet westerly, from the westerly side of the draw of said bridge. The line on the south side of the channel begins on the north side of South Boston old bridge, at a point one hundred and seventeen feet easterly from the westerly side of the draw in said bridge, and four hundred and seventy-four feet westerly from the range line of the westerly side of the brick building standing at the corner, on the easterly side of First street and northerly side of Fourth street, and four hundred and thirty feet from the face of the east stone abutment of said bridge: thence running northerly to the southwesterly corner of Alger's wharf; thence by the end of said wharf to the northerly corner of the same; thence northeasterly to the wharf belonging to the South Boston Iron Company, thence to the end of George C. Thacher's large wharf, and by the same to the northwest corner of said Thacher's small wharf; and thence easterly by said small wharf, sixty-four feet to South Boston free bridge, at a point forty-three feet northerly, from the south stone abutment of said bridge; thence southerly by the westerly side of said bridge forty-three feet to the said abutment; thence easterly by said abutment to the east end of the same: the said line then extends five hundred and twenty feet straight, so as to form an angle with said bridge of seventy-five degrees: from this point, the line is straight in a northerly direction, in such position, that, if it is continued straight, it shall not approach within six hundred feet of Arch wharf.

17. The line between the Warren Bridge and the Boston and Roxbury Mill Dam, on the Boston side of the channel, begins at the easterly end of the south abutment of Warren Bridge, and runs by the face of said abutment, to the west angle of the same. From this the line is straight to the northern angle of the solid part of the Boston and Lowell Railroad ground; the line then continues in the same direction, running westerly, till it meets the north-easterly side of the bridge of the Boston and Lowell Railroad Corporation, at a point sixty-five feet from the south stone abutment of said bridge; thence straight to the westerly side of Canal bridge, at the southerly side of the pier wharf on which the gymnasium stood, being at a point one hundred and six feet southerly, from the southerly side of the draw in said Canal bridge; thence to the north easterly corner of the solid wharf, belonging to the Charles River Wharf Company, and by the end of said wharf to the westerly corner of the same; thence to a ledge of rocks, off against the end of Taylor's wharf, at a point, one hundred and eighty feet from said wharf, and four hundred and sixty-nine feet from a brick house standing at the corner on the northwesterly side of Brighton street, and northerly side of Poplar street; thence straight to the southwesterly corner of the pier wharf situate on the southerly side of West Boston bridge, crossing the westerly side of said bridge, at a point fourteen feet easterly, from the draw in said bridge, and one hundred and eighty-eight feet westerly, from a brick building standing at the corner, on the easterly side of Charles street, and southerly side of Cambridge street; thence, the line is straight, in a direction, to a point on the northerly side of the Boston and Roxbury Mill Dam, which point is eight hundred feet westerly from a brick building standing at the corner, on the easterly side of Charles street, and northerly side of Beacon street, and one hundred and twenty-five feet westerly, from the sea wall at the easterly end of said Mill Dam, and keeping in that direction till it intersects a line drawn parallel with, and two hundred feet from the northerly side of said dam<sup>1</sup>; thence westerly by said parallel line to the west end of said dam.

Lines on the
side of the harbor.
Ibid, § 4.

18. The line on the Charlestown side of the harbor begins at the southwest corner of the most westerly navy yard wharf in Charlestown, and running southwesterly about one thousand six hundred and fifteen feet, to a timber pier of Charles river bridge, which is three hundred and forty feet northerly, from the draw in said bridge, and five hundred and ninety two feet southerly, from the southerly corner of a brick store, on the northerly side of Water

STATUTES.

1. By the seventeenth section of the act establishing the city of Boston, all the power and authority by law vested in the board of health for the town of Boston, at the time of the passage of the said act, relative to the quarantine of vessels, and relative to every other subject whatsoever, was transferred to, and vested in the city council, to be carried into execution by the appointment of health commissioners, Powers formerly vested in the board of health of Boston, transferred to the city council.

1821, 110, § 17.

or in such other manner as the health, cleanliness, comfort, and order of the said city might in their judgment require, subject to such alterations as the legislature might from time to time adopt.<sup>1</sup>

Powers formerly vested in boards of health of towns, now vested in city councils of cities. 1849, 211, § 1.

2. By the act of May 2, 1849, it was provided that all the powers vested in, and the duties prescribed to boards of health of towns, by the general laws, should be vested in, and prescribed to city councils of cities, in case no special provision to the contrary was made in such laws themselves, or in the special laws applicable to any particular city.

How such powers and duties may be exercised. Ibid., § 2.

3. The powers and duties above named, may be exercised and carried into effect by city councils, in any manner which they may prescribe, or through the agency of any persons to whom they may delegate the same, notwithstanding a personal exercise of the same, collectively or individually, is prescribed in the instance of towns, as above referred to. And city councils are authorized to constitute either branch, or any committee of their number, whether joint or separate, the board of health for all, or for particular purposes, within their own cities.

Either branch of council, or any committee, may be board of health.

Nuisances, how and by whom to be removed. Ibid., § 3. 7 Pick. 76. Penalty.

4. Whenever any nuisance, source of filth, or cause of sickness, shall be found on private property, within any city, the board of health, or health officer, shall order the owner, or occupant thereof, to remove the same, at his own expense, within twenty-four hours, or such other time as they shall deem reasonable, after notice served, as provided in the succeeding section; and if the owner, or occupant,

<sup>1</sup> It is not only the right but the duty of the city government of Boston, so far as they may be able, to remove every nuisance which may endanger the health of the citizens. And they have necessarily the power of deciding in what manner this shall be done, and their decision is conclusive, unless they transcend the powers conferred on them by the city charter. Police regulations to direct the use of private property so as to prevent its being pernicious to the citizens at large, are not void although they may in some measure interfere with private rights without providing for compensation. The property of a private individual may be appropriated to public use in connexion with measures of municipal regulation, and in such case compensation must be provided for, or the appropriation will be unconstitutional and void. Baker v. City of Boston, (12 Pick. Rep. 184.)

shall neglect so to do, he shall forfeit a sum not exceeding twenty dollars, for every day during which he shall knowingly permit such nuisance or cause of sickness to remain, after the time prescribed, as aforesaid, for the removal thereof.

5. The order mentioned in the last section shall be communicated by a written notice, served personally upon the owner or occupant, or their authorized agent, by any person competent to serve a notice in a civil suit; or such notice may be left at the owner, occupant, or agent's last and usual place of abode, if the same be known, and is within the state; and if the owner or agent's residence is unknown, or without the state, the premises being unoccupied, then such notice may be served by posting up the same on the premises, and by advertising in one or more public newspapers, in such manner, and for such length of time, as the board of health, or health officer, shall deem expedient.

Order to remove nuisances, how to be served. 1849, 211, § 4.

6. If the owner or occupant shall not comply with the order above mentioned, the board of health may cause the said nuisance, source of filth, or cause of sickness, to be removed, and all expenses, incurred thereby, shall be paid by the said owner or occupant, or by such other person as shall have caused or permitted the same, if such owner or occupant, or such other person, shall have had actual notice from the board of health of the existence of said nuisance, source of filth, or cause of sickness.

Proceedings when order is not complied with. Ibid, § 5.

Expenses, by whom paid.

7. All expenses incurred by any town or city in the removal of nuisances, or for the preservation of the public health, and which are recoverable of any private person or corporation, by virtue of any provisions of law, may be sued for and recovered in an action of debt before any court having jurisdiction of the amount claimed.

How expenses shall be recovered. Ibid, § 6.

8. All fines and forfeitures incurred under the general laws, or the special laws applicable to any town or city, or the ordinances, by-laws and regulations of any town or city, relating to health, shall enure to the use of such town or city; and may be recovered by complaint, in the name of the treasurer, before any justice of the peace of the county, Fines, &c., to whom to enure, and how recovered. Ibid, § 7. Com. v. Fahey, S. J. C. March T. 1850.

Ibid, § 5.

11. The board of health shall make such regulations respecting nuisances, sources of filth, and causes of sickness, within their respective towns,<sup>2</sup> and on board of any vessels in their harbors, as they shall judge necessary for the public health and safety; and if any person shall violate any such regulation, he shall forfeit a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars.

May make provision as to infected articles.
Ibid § 6.

12. The said board shall also make such regulations, as they may judge necessary for the public health and safety, respecting any articles which are capable of containing or conveying any infection or contagion, or of creating any sickness, when such articles shall be brought into or conveyed from their town, or into or from any vessel; and if any person shall violate any such regulations, he shall forfeit a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars.

May make regulations as to interments, &c.

House of correction for Suffolk.
1824, 28, § 2.

1. The house of correction within the city of Boston shall be the house of correction for the county of Suffolk.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> The stat. 1824, c. 28, contained several other provisions respecting the house of correction, all of which, however, although not expressly repealed, appear to be superseded by stat. 1834, c. 151, and by Rev. Stat. c.

2. There shall be erected, or otherwise provided, by the county commissioners, in their respective counties, and by the mayor and aldermen in the city of Boston, at the charge of the said counties and city respectively, a fit and convenient house or houses of correction, where not already provided, with convenient yards and work-shops, and other suitable accommodations, adjoining or appurtenant thereto, for the safe keeping, correcting, governing and employing of all rogues, vagabonds and common beggars, all lewd, vicious, idle and disorderly persons, and all other offenders who may be committed thereto in due course of law.

R. S. 143, § 2.

3. The yards of such houses of correction shall be of sufficient extent for the convenient employment of the persons confined therein, and shall be enclosed by fences of sufficient height and strength to prevent escapes, and also to prevent all access to, or communication with, any persons confined therein, by persons without. Until such house of correction shall be provided, the jail in any county, or a part thereof, may be used for that purpose; but every jail so used shall be provided with a sufficient yard, which shall be enclosed in the manner directed in this section.

Manner of commitment.
Ibid, § 6.

6. When any person shall be accused of any offence, or of any disorderly conduct, mentioned in the preceding section, or shall be liable, by virtue of any law of this commonwealth, to be committed, for any cause, to the house of correction of the county, or to the house of industry or workhouse established in any town, complaint shall be made in writing, under oath, to a justice of the peace for the county, or to a police court for the town where the offence shall be committed, and such magistrate shall thereupon cause the person complained of to be brought before himself, or before some other magistrate, by warrant, and upon conviction of the offence set forth in such complaint, such person may be sentenced to be committed to the house of correction for the county, or to the house of industry or workhouse, within the city or town, there to be kept at work for a term not exceeding six months; and the master, keeper, director or overseer of such house, shall receive all persons who shall be so committed, and set them to work, if they be able, and employ and govern them, while they remain in his custody, in the manner required by law, and prescribed by the rules and orders established for that purpose.

7. The commissioners, in their respective counties, and the city council of Boston, may appoint two or more, not exceeding five, suitable and discreet persons of the county or city, to be overseers of the house of correction therein, who shall see that the rules established for the management of the house of correction, and the government of the persons confined therein, are strictly observed; the overseers shall examine all accounts of the master, relating to the earnings of the prisoners, and all the expenses of the institution, and they shall keep a register, fairly written, of all their official proceedings.

R. S. 143, § 14.

10. The commissioners in the several counties, and the overseers of the house of correction in Boston, shall cause to be provided, at the expense of the city, and of the respective counties, suitable materials and implements, sufficient to keep at work all the persons committed to the house of correction, according to law, and may, from time to time, establish such rules as they shall think needful, for the employment and government of the persons so committed, for the procuring and preservation of such materials and implements, and for the keeping and settling of all accounts of the costs and other expenses of procuring the same, and of all labor performed by each of the persons so committed; they shall also determine, from time to time, what sum the master shall receive, for the board of the persons so committed to his custody, and the master shall receive such further compensation for his services, in addition to the price allowed him for the board of those who are so committed, as the commissioners in their counties, and the city council in Boston, shall deem just and reasonable.

The overseers of each house of correction shall, on the application of the master or keeper thereof, twice in each year, and oftener if they shall think necessary, examine and audit his accounts for the care and expense of supporting and employing the persons committed to his custody; they shall certify what sum is due for the supporting and employing of each of the said persons, after deducting the net profit, if any, of his labor; if any of the said persons shall refuse or neglect to pay the sum, so certified by the overseers to be due, for the space of fourteen days after demand in writing by such master or keeper, he may commence his action at law, by a general indebitatus assumpsit, and recover against such person the sum found to be justly due, which shall be deemed to be his [his] own proper debt; but the defendant in such action may prove on the trial, that the whole sum, allowed and certified by the overseers, was not justly due, and he may tender, or bring into court, such sum of money as he shall admit to be due to the plaintiff in such action, as in other cases.

12. Whenever the said overseers shall certify that any sum is due as aforesaid, for supporting and employing in the house of correction any person who has not sufficient estate to pay the same, and such person shall have a parent, master, or kindred, liable by law to maintain him, the said master or keeper may demand and recover such sum as may be justly due, of the person or persons so liable; if such pauper have no parent, master, or kindred, liable by law to maintain him, the same may be demanded and recovered of the town wherein he shall have his lawful settlement,<sup>1</sup> and upon refusal or neglect to make payment, for the space of thirty days after the same shall have been demanded, in writing, of the parent, master or kindred, or of any member of the city council of the city, or any overseer of the poor of the town respectively liable by law therefor, the said master or keeper, at any time within two years after his account shall have been so certified, and not afterwards, may commence and maintain his action at law for the same, against the party so liable, in the same form of action, and subject to the same defence, which are prescribed and allowed in the preceding section; provided, that the city of Boston shall be entitled to the same remedies for maintaining any person in the house of correction in said city, which are provided for the masters or keepers of houses of correction.<sup>2</sup>

Ibid, § 20.

16. When any convict shall be sentenced to solitary imprisonment and hard labor, in any house of correction or jail, the master or keeper thereof shall execute such sentence of solitary imprisonment, by confining the convict in one of the cells, if there be any in such house of correction or jail, and if there be none, then in the most retired and solitary part of such house or jail; and, during the time of solitary imprisonment, such convict shall be fed with bread and water only, unless other food shall be necessary for the preservation of his health: No intercourse shall be allowed with any convict in solitary imprisonment, except for the conveyance of food, and other necessary purposes, unless some minister of the gospel shall be disposed to visit him, in the manner hereafter provided.

17. As soon as the term of solitary imprisonment shall have expired, the master or keeper shall furnish the convict with tools and materials, or with other means, to work in any suitable manner, in which he can be usefully or profitably employed, either in the said house of correction or jail, or within the close yard thereof; such convict may, if necessary, be confined by a log and chain, or in such other manner as shall prevent his escape, without unnecessarily inflicting bodily pain, or interrupting his labor; the overseers of the house of correction, or, when such punishment is inflicted in the jail, the sheriff of the county, shall oversee the execution of all such sentences.

Incorporation of the Overseers of the Poor. 1772, Apr. 23 and 25, § 1. 22 Pick. 122.

1. By an act passed in 1772, after reciting that many charitably disposed persons have given and bequeathed considerable sums of money and other interest and estate to the poor of the town of Boston, and their use, and many other persons were well inclined to make charitable donations to the same good purpose, but the overseers of the poor of the same town not being incorporated, the good intentions of those who had made, and those who inclined to make such charitable donations, had been either wholly frustrated or not carried into full effect, it was enacted, that the overseers for the time being of the poor of the town of Boston in the county of Suffolk and province of the Massachusetts Bay, be created, made erected, and incorporated into a body politic by the name of the Overseers of the Poor of the Town of Boston in the Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England, and that they and their successors in said office have perpetual succession by said name.

<sup>1</sup> The city charter provided for the choice of overseers of the poor and prescribed their duties, (ante, p. 17, § xxvii.) But by subsequent acts of the legislature a large portion of their powers has been transferred to the directors of the house of industry, who now perform in Boston most of the duties imposed upon overseers of the poor in the various towns by the general laws. The overseers of the poor, in practice, furnish "out door relief," and may send paupers to the house of industry. When received there, they come under the charge of the directors of that institution. The overseers of the poor in the town of Boston were regularly incorporated for certain charitable purposes in 1772, and it has been judicially held that the provision in the city charter, just mentioned, was a continuance of the corporation so created in 1772, and not a dissolution or suspension of it. Overseers of the Poor of Boston v. Sears, (22 Pick. 122.) See House of Industry, and the account in the Appendix of the origin of this institution. See also House of Reformation and Paupers.

2. By the same act, all and singular sum and sums of money, interest and estate, real or personal, of what name or nature soever theretofore given, or at any time thereafter to be given, granted, bequeathed, or devised by any way or means whatsoever to the poor of the town or to their use, not exceeding the sums and value in the said act aforementioned, were to all intents and purposes vested in the same overseers and their said successors in their said corporate capacity; and they were enabled in the same capacity to receive, manage, lease, let and dispose the same according to best discretion, to and for the use and benefit of the poor of the said town. Provided always, that the said overseers shall not be able to receive or be capable of having or holding any moneys or personal estate of any kind or nature whatsoever, at any time above and beyond the sum and amount of sixty thousand pounds lawful money of this province, accounting and reckoning the whole moneys and value of all the personal estate, personal securities and choses in action, which they shall own or be vested withal in their corporate capacity together, and that all gifts and bequests of money or personal estate of any kind made to the said corporation, or which by the tenor of this act they might take or be vested with, shall be utterly void at all times hereafter when their whole stock in moneys, personal securities, or choses in action and personal estate which the said corporation shall have, own, and be vested with the property of, shall, taken reckoned together, amount to the said sum of sixty thousand pounds.

Money and estates given, devised, &c., for the use of the poor, vested in said corporation. Ibid, § 2.

Proviso, that they shall not hold more than £60,000.

Shall have perpetual succession.
Ibid, § 3.

May hold real estate not exceeding £500 by the year.

Shall have a common seal, and may make by-laws, &c.
Ibid, § 4.

Instruments made, and acts done, shall be binding.
Ibid, § 5.

Incorporation of the trustees of John Boylston's charitable donations.

3. It was further enacted, that the said overseers and their successors in said office, by the name aforesaid, have a perpetual succession by that name, to sue or be impleaded by its said corporate name to purchase lands and hold them not exceeding the sum of five hundred pounds, lawful money, by the year, and to manage, lease, bargain, and sell or otherwise dispose of all or any part thereof, and do all acts as natural persons may, as from time to time the said corporation shall judge best for the benefit, advantage and use of said poor.

4. It was further enacted that the said corporation have a common seal and power, and said corporation was authorized to make by-laws and private statutes and ordinances not repugnant to the laws of the land, for the better government of the said corporation and its finances, to choose a treasurer, clerk, and other subordinate officers, as from time to time should be found necessary, and all or any of them again at pleasure to displace.

5. It was further enacted that all instruments which said corporation should lawfully make by the name aforesaid and sealed with their common seal, and all acts done or matters passed upon by the consent of a major part of the said overseers for the time being, should bind said corporation and be valid in law.

BOYLSTON'S CHARITABLE DONATIONS.

6. By an act, passed in 1803, Oliver Wendell, William Cooper, Ebenezer Storer, and William Smith, all of Boston, and John Pitts of Tyngsborough, in the county of Middlesex, Esquires, and the survivors and survivor of them, together with the overseers of the poor of the town of Boston for the time being, and their successors, and after the decease of the said Oliver Wendell, William Cooper, Ebenezer Storer, William Smith and John Pitts, the said overseers of the poor of the town of Boston for the time being and their successors forever, were incorporated into a body politic, by the name and title of The Trustees of John Boylston's charitable donations for the benefit and support of aged poor persons, and of orphans and deserted children,

7. All the bequests, devises and donations, made and granted by John Boylston, late of Bath, in the kingdom of Great Britain, deceased, for the purposes above mentioned, were vested in the said corporation, to be held and disposed of by them conformably to the directions of the said will. And the said corporation were required to insert among their records a copy of the said act, and also of all the clauses of the said last will and testament which have relation to the said two charitable donations for the benefit of aged poor persons, and for the support of orphans and deserted children; and in the management and disposal of the funds granted in said will, the said corporation were required to conform to and be governed by the directions therein contained.

Bequests, &c.,
made by John Boylston, vested in said corporation.
Ibid, § 2.

8. It was further enacted, that the said corporation should have a perpetual succession by the name and title aforesaid, to sue or be impleaded; to purchase and hold lands, or other real estate, not exceeding the value of three thousand dollars, by the year; to hold personal estate not exceeding the value of sixty thousand dollars; and to manage, lease, bargain, and sell or otherwise dispose of, all or any part thereof, subject to the directions of the said will; and to do all acts as natural persons may do, as the said corporation from time to time should judge best to carry into effect the charitable intentions of the said will: and that the real or personal estate which the said corporation were thereby empowered to hold, should not be considered as part of that which the overseers of the poor of the town of Boston were already empowered by their former act of incorporation to hold; but as altogether distinct and separate from the same.

Said corporation to have perpetual succession;
and to hold real and personal estate.
Ibid, § 3.

9. It was further enacted, that the said corporation should have a common seal, with power to break and alter the same; and said corporation was authorized to make by-laws and private statutes and ordinances not repugnant to the laws of the land, for the better government of said corporation and its finances; to choose a treasurer, clerk, and may make by-laws, &c.

Ibid, § 4.

and other subordinate officers, as from time to time should be found necessary, and all or any of them again at pleasure to displace.

Instruments and acts shall be binding.
Ibid, § 5.

10. It was further enacted, that all instruments which said corporation should lawfully make by the name aforesaid, and sealed with their common seal, and all acts done or matters passed upon by the consent of a major part of the members of said corporation, should bind the said corporation and be valid in law.

Corporation authorized to bind out poor persons, orphans, &c.
1813, 171.

11. By an additional act, passed February 26, 1814, the last mentioned corporation were authorized and empowered to bind out in virtuous families, or to reputable trades, or useful arts or occupations, such poor persons, orphans, or deserted children, as then received, or might thereafter receive, the benefit of the said Boylston's charitable donations, until they should arrive at the age of twenty-one years, in such manner as to the said corporation might seem expedient; and for this purpose authority was given to the corporation to establish any rules and regulations, and enter into any indenture or covenant relative to such objects, not repugnant to the laws of the commonwealth, as the said corporation might deem necessary or expedient.

Towns shall support their poor.
R. S. 46, § 1.

1. Every town<sup>1</sup> shall relieve and support all poor and indigent persons, lawfully settled therein,<sup>2</sup> whenever they shall stand in need thereof, and may raise moneys therefor, and for their employment, in the same way, that moneys for other town charges are raised.

Powers and duties of overseers of the poor.
Ibid, § 2.

2. The overseers of the poor shall have the care and oversight of all such poor and indigent persons, so long as they remain at the charge of their respective towns, and shall see that they are suitably relieved, supported and employed, at the charge of such town, either in the workhouse, or almshouse, provided by the town, or in such other manner as the town shall direct, or otherwise, at the discretion of said overseers.

Further powers of overseers.
Ibid, § 3.

3. The overseers of the poor shall have the same power and authority over persons who may be placed under their care, which directors or masters of workhouses have over persons committed thereto, by force of the provisions concerning workhouses, contained in the sixteenth chapter of the Revised Statutes.

Towns may provide almshouses.

4. Any town may erect or provide an almshouse, for the reception and employment of their poor; or any two or more towns may, at their joint charge and for their common benefit, erect or provide such a house, in like manner as they are authorized to join in providing a workhouse, by the said sixteenth chapter of the Revised Statutes.

Certain kindred of poor persons, if able, shall support them.

6. The court of common pleas in the county, where any one of such kindred to be charged shall reside, upon complaint made by any town, or by any kindred, who shall have been at any expense, for the relief and support of such pauper, may, on due hearing, either upon the appearance or default of the kindred supposed to be chargeable, assess and apportion, upon such of the kindred as they shall find to be of sufficient ability, and in proportion thereto, such sum as they shall judge reasonable, for or towards the support of the pauper, to the time of such assessment, and may enforce payment thereof, by an execution in common form; provided, that such assessment shall not extend to any expense for relief, afforded more than six months previous to the filing of the complaint.

Court of common pleas may assess such kindred.
Ibid, § 6.

7. The said court may further assess and apportion, upon the said kindred, such weekly sum, as they shall judge sufficient for the future support of the pauper, to be paid quarter yearly, until the further order of court; and upon application, from time to time, of the town, or kindred to whom the same shall have been ordered to be paid, the clerk of said court shall issue and may renew an execution, for the arrears of any preceding quarter.

Court of common pleas may also assess for future expenses.
Ibid, § 7.

8. When the court shall adjudge two or more of the kindred of any pauper to be of sufficient ability to contribute to his support, they shall tax no more costs against any one respondent, than shall have been occasioned by his default or separate defence.

Costs in such proceedings, how taxed.
Ibid, § 8.

9. The said court may further order, with whom of such kindred, that may desire it, such pauper shall live and be relieved, and such time with one, and such time with another, as they shall judge proper, having regard to the comfort of the pauper, as well as the convenience of the kindred.

The court may order with whom of such kindred, the pauper shall live.

12. The said court may take further order, from time to time, in the premises, upon application of any party interested, and may alter such assessment and apportionment, according to the circumstances; and upon all such complaints, they may award costs to either party, as justice shall require.

13. The said overseers, in their respective towns, shall also provide for the immediate comfort and relief of all persons, residing or found therein, not belonging thereto, but having lawful settlements in other towns, when they fall into distress and stand in need of immediate relief, and until they shall be removed to the places of their lawful settlements; the expenses whereof, incurred within three months next before notice given to the town to be charged, as also of their removal or of their burial, in case of their decease, may be sued for and recovered, by the town incurring the same, against the town which is liable therefor, in an action at law; provided, that such action for damages be instituted within two years after the cause of action shall have arisen, but not otherwise.

14. A recovery in such civil action shall bar the town, against which it shall be had, from disputing the settlement of such pauper with the town so recovering, in any future action brought for the support of such pauper.

15. When any person shall be supported in any town, other than that in which he has his settlement, the town that is liable for his support shall not, in any case, be required to pay therefor more than at the rate of one dollar a week ; provided the town that is liable for the support of the pauper shall cause him to be removed, within thirty days from the time of receiving legal notice that such support has been furnished.

Foreign paupers may be conveyed from the state to the place where they belong.
Ibid, § 17.

18. Every town shall be held to pay any expense, which shall be necessarily incurred, for the relief of a pauper, by any person, who is not liable by law for his support, after notice and request made to the overseers of the said town, and until provision shall be made by them.

Ibid, § 18.

19. The said overseers may, in all cases, send a written notification, stating the facts relating to any person actually become chargeable to their town, to one or more of the overseers of the place, where his settlement is supposed to be, and requesting them to remove him, which they may do by a written order, directed to any person therein designated, who is hereby authorized to execute the same.

Paupers may be removed to places of settlement.
Ibid, § 19.

notice, they shall, within said two months, send a written answer, stating therein their objections to the removal of the pauper, signed by one or more of them, to one or more of the overseers, requesting such removal; and if they shall fail so to do, the overseers, who requested the removal of the pauper, may cause him to be removed to the said place of his supposed settlement, by a written order directed to any person therein designated, who is hereby authorized to execute the same; and the overseers of the town, to which the pauper is so sent, shall be obliged to receive and provide for him, and their town shall be liable for the expenses of his support and removal, to be recovered by an action by the town incurring the same, and shall be barred from contesting the question of settlement with the plaintiffs in such action.

Effect of notifications, &c., to towns, sent by mail. Ibid, § 21.

21. The notification and answer, mentioned in the two preceding sections, may be sent by mail; and such notification or answer, directed to the overseers of the poor of the town, intended to be notified or answered, (the postage being paid and indorsed thereon,) shall be deemed a sufficient notice and answer, and shall be considered as delivered to the overseers, to whom it is directed, at the time when it is received in the post office of the town, to which it is directed, and in which the said overseers reside.

What minor children may be bound out by overseers. Ibid, § 22.

22. The said overseers may bind out the minor children of any poor person, who has become chargeable to their town, as having a lawful settlement therein, or who is supported there in whole or in part at the charge of the state, and also other minor children, who are poor and chargeable to the town, in the manner provided in the eightieth chapter of the Revised Statutes.<sup>1</sup>

23. If any person shall bring into and leave any poor and indigent person in any town of this state, wherein such pauper is not lawfully settled, knowing him to be poor and indigent, and with intent to charge such town with his support, he shall forfeit a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars for any such offence; which penalty shall be forfeited

And if any part of such property shall be withheld from the said overseers, they shall have the same remedy for the recovery of such property, or the value thereof, that an administrator of the estate of the said pauper might have in like case.

What is the average weekly cost of supporting paupers out of alms-house? How many does your town support or relieve who are insane? How many do you relieve or support who are idiots? What number of persons relieved or supported as paupers during the year in your town, have become paupers by reason of insanity or idiocy? What proportion of your paupers, in your opinion, have been made dependent by intemperance in themselves, or those who ought to have been their supporters? What number of your foreign paupers have come into this commonwealth within one year? What is the total net amount of expense of supporting or relieving paupers in your town for one year, including interest on your alms-house establishment? What amount does your town receive from the treasury of this commonwealth towards the support of state paupers? And the secretary of this commonwealth shall, in the month of September annually, furnish the overseers of the poor of each town with a blank form of return which shall contain in substance the foregoing interrogatories.<sup>1</sup>

Two commissioners of pilots to be appointed for Boston.
R. S. 32, § 15.

1. The governor, with the advice and consent of the council, is authorized to appoint and commission two persons, to execute the office of commissioners of pilots for the harbor of Boston, who shall hold their office during the term of three years, unless sooner removed by the governor and council; provided always, that the said persons shall first be recommended by the trustees of the Boston marine society, and that no such commissioner shall at the same time be one of said trustees.

<sup>1</sup> The pilotage district, which includes the harbor of Boston, extends from Nahant rock, on the North, to the highlands of Marshfield on the South; and the words "port of Boston," or "harbor of Boston," as used in reference to the regulations of pilotage, include all the ports which use the several channels leading to the city of Boston, and the mouths of the rivers which enter into that harbor. Martin v. Hilton, (9 Metc. 371.)

2. The said commissioners shall grant commissions for pilots, and warrants for apprentices, to such persons as may be approved by the trustees of the Boston marine society; and they may, upon satisfactory evidence of misconduct, carelessness or neglect of duty, suspend until the meeting of the trustees then next ensuing, any pilot or apprentice who now holds or shall hereafter hold a branch, commission or warrant; and if the said trustees, at their said next meeting, shall decide that such branch, commission or warrant ought to be revoked, the said commissioners of pilots may revoke the same, or may, at their discretion, continue the suspension of such pilot or apprentice, until the next stated meeting of said trustees, and no longer, for the same offence.

Commissioners may grant and revoke commissions and warrants, &c. Ibid, § 16.

3. No person shall receive a commission or exercise the office of a pilot, for the harbor of Boston, until he shall have deposited, with the treasurer of the commonwealth, a bond in the penal sum of two thousand dollars, payable to the said treasurer, and with sureties satisfactory to the said commissioners, for the faithful performance by himself and his apprentices of all the duties required by law of any pilot or apprentice.

Pilots to give bond to state treasurer. Ibid, § 17.

4. Any surety on such bond of a pilot may, at the end of any year after signing the same, terminate his liability as surety for the future acts of such pilot, by giving notice of his determination, in writing, at least thirty days before the expiration of any such year, to the treasurer of the commonwealth and to the commissioners of pilots; and thereupon the said commissioners shall give notice to the said pilot, that unless he shall procure some other surety, his commission will be annulled at the end of such year, and the same shall in such case be annulled by them and delivered up accordingly; and if any such pilot shall, after demand made, refuse to deliver up his commission, he shall forfeit the sum of fifty dollars for every month, during which he shall retain the same.

Sureties on pilots' bonds may be released therefrom. Ibid, § 18.

5. The commissioners of pilots shall keep an office, and shall be in attendance during a part of each day, to receive and consider complaints by and against pilots, and to examine the evidence concerning the same; and in case any pilot, either by himself or his apprentice, shall be guilty of any act, whereby the condition of his bond shall be broken, the said commissioners shall make immediate complaint thereof to the treasurer of the commonwealth, who shall cause a suit to be forthwith commenced and security to be taken, for the benefit of all persons who may have suffered by the misconduct or negligence of such pilot or apprentice; and the like proceedings and judgment shall be had and rendered in such suit, as in the case of sheriffs' bonds.

Pilots to render quarterly accounts to commissioners.
Ibid., § 20.

6. Once in every three months, each branch pilot for the harbor of Boston shall render, to the said commissioners of pilots, an account of all vessels piloted, and of all moneys received by him or by any person for him for pilotage; and he shall pay to the said commissioners five per cent. on the amount thereof, which shall be taken in full for their official services and for the expenses of the office; and the said pilots may add five per cent. to the rates established by law, at the time when they shall perform the service of piloting any vessel, and they may collect the same in the like manner, as they are now authorized to collect the pilotage fees; and if any pilot shall make a false return of moneys so received, he shall forfeit a sum not exceeding fifty dollars.

Additional fees.

Penalty for a false return.

Commissioners may make regulations for pilots, &c.
Ibid., § 21.
12 Metc. 346.

7. The commissioners of pilots may, from time to time, alter or amend any of the existing regulations, for the pilotage of the harbor of Boston, and may make any new regulations therefor; and all such altered, amended and new regulations, after being approved by the trustees of the Boston marine society, and being published one week in two of the newspapers printed in Boston, shall be binding on all persons; and the said commissioners, at least twice a year, shall publish as aforesaid all the regulations, which shall at such times be in force, concerning the pilotage of the harbor of Boston, and also shall see that the said regulations and the laws concerning said pilotage are duly observed and executed.

Regulations to be published.

Commissioners to keep fair records of their &c.

R. S. 32, § 22.

9. If any person, not having a branch, commission or warrant, as a pilot or pilot's apprentice, for the harbor of Boston, shall undertake to pilot into or out of the said harbor any vessels, excepting such as are excepted in the seventh section of the thirty-second chapter of the Revised Statutes,<sup>1</sup> he shall forfeit a sum not exceeding fifty dollars for each offence.<sup>2</sup>

No person except a pilot, &c., to pilot vessels, except, &c.
Ibid, § 23.
5 Metc. 412.

10. In case no Boston branch pilot shall offer his services to the master of a vessel bound into the harbor of Boston, before such vessel shall have passed a line drawn from Harding's Rocks to the Outer Graves, and from thence to Nahant Head, such master shall be at liberty to pilot his own vessel, or to employ any other person to pilot his vessel into the said harbor, without incurring the penalty mentioned in the preceding section.<sup>3</sup>

Commissioners may require new bonds.
1844, 168.

12. Every branch pilot appointed agreeably to the provisions of the thirty-second chapter of the Revised Statutes, is authorized and directed, by himself or his deputy, to take charge of any vessel bound into or going out of the port assigned to him, except fishing vessels, and all American vessels of less than two hundred tons, bound from any port within the United States to a port or place within this state, and excepting also, all other vessels bound from a

The mayor and aldermen of Boston may, from time to time, appoint such police officers for said city as they may judge necessary, with all or any of the powers of the constables of said city, except the power of serving and executing any civil process ; and the said police officers shall hold their offices during the pleasure of the said mayor and aldermen.<sup>1</sup>

"Whereas the trade and business managed in the town of Boston, between the inhabitants thereof and others trafficking there, occasions many persons to resort to and attend about the wharves, docks, and other parts of the town, to convey and carry goods, wares and merchandizes from place to place, some of whom are not so well known as such an employment requires, others of no good character, yet oftentimes have goods of a considerable value put into their custody for conveyance as aforesaid, and some taking upon them the business of porters, impose upon those making use of them, more especially strangers, by exacting exorbitant wages for their labor, or refusing business, though not before employed, if they cannot have their unreasonable demands: Therefore, to avoid such inconveniences for the future, Be it enacted," &c.

Porters to wear badges.

2. It was further provided, that whosoever should presume to take up the business and employ of a common porter, and convey or carry goods and merchandize from place to place, within the town of Boston, for hire or wages, without being admitted by the selectmen, as aforesaid, should forfeit and pay the sum of twenty shillings, for every time he should be convicted thereof, before any one of his majesty's justices of the peace, within the county of Suffolk, at Boston aforesaid; the one half of which fine or forfeiture, should be disposed of to and for the use of the poor of the town of Boston, the other half to him or them that should inform and sue for the same.

Penalty for persons unlicensed acting as porters. Ibid, § 2.

3. It was further enacted, that whosoever, being admitted as a porter as aforesaid, should ask, take, and receive any more than what the selectmen should allow, for any work or service, should for every such exaction, forfeit and pay the sum of twenty shillings, to be recovered and disposed of as hereinbefore directed; and if any person admitted and approved of as aforesaid, as a common porter, should officiate or concern himself in the business of transporting goods or merchandize, not having his badge or ticket, should, for every such breach of the said act, forfeit and pay the sum of twenty shillings, to be recovered and disposed of as aforesaid.

Penalty for asking more than selectmen allow, for services. Ibid, § 3.

Appearing without badge.

4. It was further enacted, that the selectmen should require and take bond of each one of the porters, admitted as aforesaid, with sufficient surety, in a sum not exceeding Damages for land, &c., taken for railroads, to be assessed by the mayor and aldermen.

R. S. 39, § 63.

1. If any railroad corporation shall, by virtue of their charter, take any land or other property, within the city of Boston, without the consent of the owner of such land or other property, the mayor and aldermen of said city shall, except as provided in the following section, have all the power of commissioners in the like cases; and the like proceedings shall be had, before the said mayor and aldermen, for the purpose of ascertaining, securing and obtaining payment of damages, and subject to the same limitations, as in case of an application to the said commissioners.

2. Either party, if dissatisfied with the estimate of damages thus made by said mayor and aldermen, may apply for a jury to the court of common pleas, next to be held within the county of Suffolk, after the said estimate is made known to the parties; and thereupon the same proceedings shall be had, as in case of estimating and enforcing payment of damages for laying out ways within the said city.

Either party may apply to C. C. Pleas for a jury. Ibid, § 64.

3. If any railroad shall be so laid out as to cross any turnpike road or other way, it shall be so made as not to obstruct such turnpike road or way.

Railroads not to obstruct other roads in crossing. R. S. 39, § 66.

4. Every railroad corporation, which has been or may be established, may raise or lower any turnpike or way, for the purpose of having their railroad pass over or under the same; but before proceeding to make any alteration in such turnpike or way, said railroad corporation shall, in writing, notify the president or clerk of the corporation owning such turnpike, or the selectmen of the town in which such way is situated; and said turnpike corporation or said selectmen, respectively, within thirty days after receiving such notice, shall, in writing, notify said railroad corporation of the alterations, if any, which they may require to have made therein for the purpose aforesaid.

Proceedings when railroad corporations wish to raise or lower turnpikes, &c. Ibid, § 67.

5. If the parties shall not agree what alterations are necessary, the said railroad corporation, as well as the said proprietors of the turnpike, and said selectmen, may apply to the commissioners in the county where the said portion of turnpike, or way is situated, at their next regular meeting after the expiration of said thirty days, to determine whether any and what alterations shall be made, and their decision shall be final; and in case said corporation shall unreasonably neglect to make such alteration as the said commissioners shall determine to be proper, the said proprietors or selectmen shall have the same remedies as are prescribed for the recovery of damages caused by making such railroad.

If the parties do not agree as to alterations, either may appeal to commissioners. Ibid, § 68.

6. If, after the laying out and making of any railroad already granted, or which may be hereafter granted, any turnpike road or other way shall be so laid out as to cross said railroad, the said turnpike road or way may be so made as to pass under or over said railroad, and said turnpike or way shall in all cases be so made as not to obstruct or injure such railroad.

Railroads not to be obstructed by turnpikes, &c., subsequently laid out. Ibid, § 69.

Proceedings where it is necessary that a highway, &c., crossed by a railroad, should be raised, or lowered. 1842, 22. See R. S., 29, § 66-69.

Application to county commissioners, for their decision thereon.

7. If the selectmen of any town, or the mayor and aldermen of any city, wherein any turnpike, highway or town-way, crossed by any railroad, on a level therewith, is situated, shall be of opinion that it is necessary for the security of the public that said turnpike, highway or town-way should be raised or lowered, so as to pass over or under said railroad, said selectmen, or mayor and aldermen, may, in writing, request the corporation to which said railroad belongs to raise or lower said ways; and if said corporation shall neglect or refuse so to do, said selectmen, or mayor and aldermen, may apply to the county commissioners of the county within which said town is situated, to decide upon the reasonableness of such request; and if said commissioners, after due notice and hearing the parties, shall decide that the raising or lowering of said ways is necessary, for the security of the public, said corporation shall comply with said decision, and shall pay the costs of the application; and if the said commissioners shall be of opinion that such alteration of said ways is not necessary, the said selectmen, or mayor and aldermen shall be liable to pay the costs of their application; and if said corporation shall unreasonably neglect or refuse to carry into effect the decision of said commissioners, such selectmen, or mayor and aldermen, may proceed to do it, and may institute and prosecute to final judgment and execution, in any court proper to try the same, an action of the case against said corporation, and recover the amount of all charges, expenses, labor and services occasioned by making such alteration, with costs of suit.

Railroads to be constructed so as to cross over or under highway, &c. 1846, 271, § 1.

Space to be left under railroad, sufficient for travel.

8. Every railroad corporation which may construct a railroad across any turnpike, highway, or town-way, shall construct it, so as to cross over or under the turnpike, highway or town-way, and if the railroad shall be constructed to cross over the turnpike, highway, or town-way, a sufficient space shall be left under the railroad conveniently to accommodate the travel upon the turnpike, highway or town-way. And such railroad corporation shall build, keep up and maintain in good repair, such bridges, with suitable and convenient approaches thereto, as may be required to accommodate the travel upon the turnpike, highway or town-way, over such crossing, except such as are provided for in the following section.

9. The county commissioners of the county in which such crossing is situated, upon the application of the railroad corporation, or of the proprietors of the turnpike, or of the selectmen of the town, or of the mayor and aldermen of the city in which the crossing is situated, after due notice to the railroad corporation, the proprietors of the turnpike and such selectmen, or mayor and aldermen, not being themselves the applicants, and to any other persons of parties, as they may direct, and after hearing the parties, may authorize and require the railroad corporation to construct their railroad at such crossing, upon a level with the turnpike, highway or town-way, in such manner as they may direct; and if they shall consider it necessary, may require the railroad corporation to erect and maintain a gate across the railroad at such crossing, and to provide an agent to open and close the same, as is provided in the eightieth section of the thirty-ninth chapter of the Revised Statutes. And the railroad corporation shall pay the cost of every such application, excepting in cases where the county commissioners shall deny the application of the proprietors of a turnpike or the selectmen of any town, or the mayor and aldermen of any city.

10. Every railroad corporation shall erect and maintain suitable fences, with convenient bars, gates or openings therein, at such places as may reasonably be required, upon both sides of the entire length of any railroad which they may construct, except at the crossings of any turnpike, highway or other way, or in places where the convenient use of the railroad would be obstructed thereby. And shall also construct and maintain sufficient barriers, at such places as may be necessary, where it is practicable to do so, to prevent the entrance of cattle upon the railroad.

11. Any railroad corporation which shall unreasonably neglect to comply with any of the provisions of the three Bridges, &c., to be built and maintained in good repair to accommodate travel.

Railroad corporation may be authorized and required by county commissioners, upon application, to construct their railroad on a level with highway, &c., at crossings.
Ibid, § 2.

May be required to erect and maintain a gate, and provide an agent at such crossings, as provided in R. S. 39, § 80. Cost of application, by whom to be paid.
See § 15, post.

Fences, &c., to be erected and maintained at such places as may be reasonably required, upon both sides of the railroad, except, &c.
Ibid, § 3.

Sufficient barriers to be maintained to keep cattle from the railroad.

Penalty.
Ibid, § 4.

preceding sections shall, for each and every such neglect, forfeit a sum not exceeding two hundred dollars, for every month during which such neglect shall have continued.

Railroad corporations may alter the course of highway, subject to the direction of the county commissioners. 1849, 159, § 1.

12. If any railroad corporation, which has been or may be established, shall think proper to alter the course of any highway or town-way, for the purpose of facilitating the crossing of the same by their railroad, or for the purpose of permitting their railroad to pass at the side of such way, without crossing the same, they may make such alteration in such manner as shall be directed by the commissioners of the county where such way is situated; provided the commissioners, after due notice to the selectmen of the town where such way is situated, shall be of opinion that such alteration will not essentially injure such way; and provided further, that any damage occasioned to private property thereby shall be paid by the corporation, as in case of land taken for the construction of the railroad.

Bell to be attached to locomotive engines, and to be rung, &c. R. S. 39, § 78.

13. Every railroad corporation shall cause a bell, of at least thirty-five pounds in weight, to be placed on each locomotive engine passing upon their road; and the said bell shall be rung, at the distance of at least eighty rods, from the place where said railroad crosses any turnpike, highway or town-way, upon the same level with the railroad, and shall be kept ringing until the engine has crossed such turnpike or way.

Sign boards to be erected at the crossings of roads. Ibid, § 79.

14. Every railroad corporation shall cause boards to be placed, well supported by posts or otherwise, and constantly maintained across each turnpike, highway or town-way, where it is crossed by the railroad, upon the same level therewith; the said posts and boards to be of such height, as shall be easily seen by travellers, without obstructing the travel; and on each side of said boards, the following inscription shall be printed, in capital letters of at least the size of nine inches each,—RAILROAD CROSSING—LOOK OUT FOR THE ENGINE WHILE THE BELL RINGS.

Gates, &c., shall also be erected if necessary. Ibid, § 80.

15. If the selectmen of any town, wherein any turnpike, highway or town-way, so crossed by any railroad, is situated, shall be of opinion, that the provisions contained in the two preceding sections are not a sufficient security to the public, in any particular case, and that it is necessary for such security, that gates should be erected across the railroad, and that an agent should be stationed to open and close said gates, whenever any engine passes, the said selectmen may in writing request said railroad corporation to erect such gates and station an agent as aforesaid; and if said corporation shall neglect or refuse so to do, the said selectmen may apply to the commissioners, to decide upon the reasonableness of such request; and if said commissioners, after due notice, and hearing the parties, shall decide that the erection of such gates, and providing such agent, are necessary for the security of the public, said railroad corporation shall comply with said decision, and shall pay the costs of the application; and if the said commissioners shall be of opinion, that the establishment of said gates and agent is not required as aforesaid, the said selectmen shall be liable to pay all the costs of their application.

16. If any railroad corporation shall unreasonably neglect or refuse to comply with the requisitions, contained in the three preceding sections, they shall forfeit, for every such neglect or refusal, a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars; and if any agent stationed as aforesaid shall neglect to open or close said gates, for the safe passing of the engine on the railroad, or the traveller on the turnpike, highway or town-way, he shall, for every such neglect, forfeit a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars; and the said railroad corporation shall also be liable for all damages, sustained by any person by reason of such neglect of any of their agents, to be recovered in an action on the case, by the person sustaining such damages.

17. By an act passed May 2, 1849, it was provided that the application required by the eightieth section of the thirty-ninth chapter of the Revised Statutes<sup>1</sup> to be made by selectmen to county commissioners, in the matter of a crossing, by a railroad, of any turnpike, highway, or town-way, may, when said crossing is within the limits of the city of Boston, be made by any two inhabitants of said city,

Penalty for neglecting to comply with the foregoing provisions, and liability for damages.
Ibid, § 81.

Applications, as to railroads crossing other roads, in Boston, may be made to the mayor and aldermen.

to the mayor and aldermen thereof, and such inhabitants shall be liable for costs when the railroad corporation shall be the prevailing party, and before the hearing of the application, shall give bonds, with sufficient surety, for the payment of such costs, if the mayor and aldermen shall so adjudge.

The preceding section, and R. S. 39, §§ 79, 80 and 81, extended. Ibid, § 2.

18. The provisions of the preceding section, and of the seventy-ninth, eightieth, and eighty-first sections of the thirty-ninth chapter of the Revised Statutes,<sup>1</sup> are declared applicable to all crossings by railroads of any highway, turnpike, town-way, or travelled place, upon the same level therewith, which did, at the passage of said statute of 1849, or might thereafter exist; provided, that, whenever it shall be adjudged that a railroad corporation shall provide security against a travelled place, not laid out and adjudged to be a town-way or a highway, the said corporation shall provide a gate for the same, or bars, as the county commissioners shall order.

Corporation shall provide a gate, or bars, when adjudged necessary.

County commissioners may direct gates to be built across highway, &c. Ibid, § 3. Shall have original jurisdiction of questions as to obstructions by railroads. Ibid § 4.

19. The county commissioners may direct gates to be built across the turnpike, highway or town-way, when the same crosses such railroad, instead of across said railroad.

20. The original jurisdiction of all questions touching obstructions to turnpikes, highways, or town-ways, caused by the construction or operation of railroads, shall be vested in the county commissioners of the respective counties wherein such obstructions shall occur.

S. J. Court, shall have equity jurisdiction to enforce decisions of county commissioners. Ibid § 5.

21. The supreme judicial court shall have jurisdiction in equity, and may compel railroad corporations to raise or lower any turnpike, highway or town-way, when the county commissioners have decided, or may decide, in due and legal form, that such raising or lowering of any such way is necessary for the security of the public, and to compel railroad corporations to comply with the orders, decrees, and judgments of county commissioners, in all cases touching obstructions, by railroads, in any of said ways.<sup>2</sup> city newspapers which were published on the next morning after said order was passed, reciting that sundry houses and other buildings had been recently set on fire, and offering a reward of $500 to any person "who shall give information, so that any perpetrator of these outrages shall be convicted." This advertisement purported to be "by order of the mayor and aldermen," and was signed by the city clerk. Held, that the advertisement must be taken to be the official act of the mayor and aldermen. Held, also, that the order and the advertisement were to be construed together, as parts of the same transaction, and that by the true construction thereof, the reward was offered for information that would lead to the conviction of offences previously committed, and not offences thereafter committed. Freeman v. City of Boston, (5 Metc. 56.) The mayor of the city of Boston caused an advertisement to be published, for about a week, in the daily papers of the city, stating that there had been a frequent and successful repetition of incendiary attempts, and offering a reward, to be paid by the city, for the apprehension and conviction of any person engaged in those attempts. Held, that this was not to be regarded as an unlimited offer, continuing till it should be formally withdrawn, but as limited to a reasonable time; and that it ceased to be an offer, after the lapse of three years and eight months. Loring v. City of Boston, (7 Metc. 409.)

STATUTES.

1. Under a provision in the act of 1799, chapter 31, the selectmen, (whose powers were afterwards transferred to the mayor and aldermen by the city charter,) were empowered, whenever in their opinion the safety and convenience of the inhabitants of Boston should require it, to lay out or widen any street, lane or alley of Boston ; and for that purpose to remove any building or buildings of what nature soever. And it was further provided, that the owner or owners of such building should be entitled to receive compensation for the damages which he or they might sustain by such removal, which damages should be ascertained, determined, and recovered in the way and manner pointed out in the act entitled "An Act directing the method of laying out highways." That act provided for an estimation of such damages by a committee of freeholders, appointed by the court of general sessions of the peace ; with a privilege to any party aggrieved of applying to the court for a hearing before a jury, or a new committee. By an additional act, passed March 4, 1805, the selectmen were in like manner

The provisions for the recovery of damages have been modified by subsequent statutes, as stated in the succeeding sections. See §§ 5, 6, 7 and 8, pp. 369-372, post.

the act of 1816, for the discontinuance of any street, lane or alley of said town, or respecting any alteration in the same, in whole or in part, shall be held and considered as good and valid to all intents and purposes, as if the said act of 1799, c. 31, had explicitly vested said authority in the said selectmen; reserving always to individuals recompense for damages sustained thereby, as is provided in the said act.

5. By the twenty-fourth chapter of the Revised Statutes, the authority to lay out, alter, and discontinue highways, and to assess damages therefor, is given to the county commissioners; with a right to any party aggrieved to apply for a jury; and the method of proceeding is prescribed in detail. By the fifty-fourth section, it is provided that in the county of Suffolk, the mayor and aldermen of the city of Boston shall, within the said city, have the like powers and perform the like duties, as are exercised and performed by the commissioners of other counties, in respect to the laying out, altering and discontinuing of ways, and assessing damages therefor, except as is provided in the following section.<sup>1</sup>

County commissioners authorized to lay out, &c., highways.
Rev. Stat. 24.

Mayor and aldermen have the same authority in Boston.
Ibid, § 54.
Ibid, § 4, § 9.

<sup>1</sup> Whether the authority of the mayor and aldermen to lay out and widen streets depends upon the Revised Statutes, c. 24, § 54, or upon stat. 1799, c. 31, § 3, stat. 1804, c. 73, and stat. 1821, c. 110, § 13, (City Charter) appears to be an open question. The practice has been to proceed upon the latter statutes. Upon this point see Stone v. City of Boston, (2 Metc. 220), Parks v. City of Boston, (8 Pick. 218), Commonwealth v. City of Boston, (16 Pick. 442), Goddard's case, (16 Pick. 504.)

The mayor and aldermen cannot legally lay out a street, without first giving to all persons interested notice of their intention so to do. Stone v. City of Boston, (2 Metc. 220.)

Where the mayor and aldermen laid out a street over land belonging to minors without giving any previous notice, and without making any estimate of the amount of damage thereby sustained by the owners, and more than a year elapsed before either of the owners came of age; a writ of certiorari was ordered, on a petition filed by one of the owners, at the first term after he came of age, although notice had been given to the tenant

6. When any party shall be aggrieved by the doings of the said mayor and aldermen, in the cases mentioned in the preceding section, he may apply for a jury, by petition to the court of common pleas, within and for the county of Suffolk, at any term of said court that shall be there held, within one year after the laying out, altering or discontinuing of any way in said city, and not afterwards;<sup>1</sup> and thereupon the said court shall, after due notice to the said city, order a trial by jury to be had in the case, at the bar of said court, in the same manner, in which other civil causes are there tried by the jurors there returned and empanelled; and if either party request it, the jury, to whom the cause may be committed, shall view the place in question.<sup>2</sup>

in possession to remove the buildings from the land, and he had communicated that notice to the guardian of said minors, within a year after the street was thus laid out. Ibid. See also Parks v. Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Boston, (8 Pick. 218.)

Where the mayor and aldermen shall adjudge that the laying out or altering of a street is required by public safety and convenience, their having taken a bond from an individual to contribute towards the expense will not vitiate their proceedings, provided the bond was not made the basis of their proceedings, and the adjudication was not colorably for the use of the city, and really for the benefit of the individual. Ibid. See also Crockett v. City of Boston, S. J. C. Nov. T. 1850.

Where parties, interested in the alteration of a street or highway, had actual notice of the proceedings, and attended, and were heard concerning them, and have acquiesced therein for many years, a writ of certiorari to remove those proceedings will not be granted, merely because it does not appear that they had the official notice prescribed by law, nor because one of them was non compos mentis, and had no guardian. Hancock v. City of Boston, (1 Metc. 122).

<sup>2</sup> Where part of a lot of land under lease is taken by the mayor and aldermen for the purpose of widening a street, the lease is not thereby extinguished: nor is the lessee discharged from his liability to pay the reserved rent during the residue of the term. But the lessor and lessee are each entitled to recover compensation for the damage so sustained by them respectively. Parks v. City of Boston, (15 Pick. 198).

Where land is taken by the mayor and aldermen for the purpose of widening a street, it is to be estimated at its value at the time of the taking, in the assessment of damages. Ibid.

By a subsequent statute, it is enacted, that in all cases, where any suit shall hereafter be brought, wherein the validity or legal effect of the proceedings of the mayor and aldermen, in respect to the laying out, altering or discontinuing of any way, which laying out, altering or discontinuing, shall take place after the passage of said statute shall be drawn in question, the time limited for applications for a jury to assess the damages shall be so far extended, that such application may be made at any time within one year after the final determination of any such suit; pro-

Under Stat. 1820, c. 79, § 5, a bill of exceptions lies to the instructions and rulings of the C. C. P. upon such trial. Ibid.

Where the lessee of a store in Boston was prohibited, under certain penalties, by the terms of the lease, from making any alterations in the store without the consent of the lessor, and subsequently to the execution of the lease, the street was widened by the city authorities, it was held, that the city was not responsible to the lessee, for any damage occasioned by a delay on the part of the lessor to give his consent to the alterations rendered necessary by the widening of the street. Brooks v. City of Boston, (19 Pick. 174.)

In an action for damages brought, in such case, by the lessee against the city, evidence that his sales were less during the time when the street, as widened, was being fitted for use, than in the corresponding season of the next year, after the alteration had been completed, is not admissible, unless it is connected with other evidence tending to show that the diminution of business was in fact occasioned by operation of widening the street. Ibid.

A city or town is not responsible in damages for the inconvenience and loss of business occasioned to the abutters on a street, by incumbrances and obstructions placed in the street for the purpose of repairing it, or by opening a common sewer in the street. Ibid.

The complainant took a lease of a store in the city of Boston, for three years, covenanting to pay the rent and to leave the premises in good repair at the end of the term, and the lessor reserving a right to enter and make improvements. The front part of the land was taken, and the front wall of the building was cut off by the city, for the purpose of widening the street. It was held, that this act of the city did not put an end to the term, nor release the lessee from his covenants to pay rent and make repairs. Patterson v. City of Boston, (20 Pick. 159.)

In the said county of Suffolk, whenever there shall be several parties, having several estates or interests, at the same time, in any land or any buildings thereon, within the city of Boston, and the said land or buildings shall be taken or otherwise damaged, in whole or in part, by the laying out, altering or discontinuing of any highway or town way, and any one of such parties shall make application, by petition

Whether the erection of a new wall on the new line fixed for the street, was in the nature of a reparation which the lessee's covenant bound him to make, or whether it was not rather an addition or improvement, quere. Ibid.

But the lessee, in the first instance, and if he decline, the lessor, had a right to build such wall, and the expense of it is a proper item of claim for damages against the city. Ibid.

Whether the lessee has built such wall himself, or paid the lessor for building it, does not affect his claim for damages against the city, unless the lessor built it on his own account, and received remuneration from the city; in which case he was not entitled to recover the amount from the lessee, and the city is not to be charged a second time for the same damage. Ibid.

The damage sustained by the lessee in being deprived of the use of his store, and for which he is entitled to recover of the city, is to be computed for such time as would be reasonably necessary to remove his goods and make the repairs and remove back again: and the loss or the value of the store to him for that period, and not the rent and taxes specifically, is the measure of his indemnity. Ibid.

The lessee is also to be remunerated for the diminished value of the premises caused by the taking of part, for the residue of the term he continuing to pay at the same rate the rent and taxes. Ibid.

It seems he is not entitled to damages for loss of custom, occasioned by his being obliged to occupy a less advantageous place of business while the repairs are making. Ibid.

In estimating the damages sustained by an individual by reason of his land being taken for public use, the jury may rightfully be influenced by their general knowledge and experience of like subjects, as well as by the testimony and opinion of the witnesses. Ibid.

Soon after the commencement of a lease for three years, of a warehouse or store in Boston, in which lease the lessee covenanted to pay the rent during the term, and to leave the premises in good repair, the city took the front part of the land on which the building stood, and cut down the front wall, for the purpose of widening the street. The building remained in this condition about two years, when the lessor took it down, and erected a new store on the same site, but diminished by the strip of land taken by the city. Before the wall was taken down, the lessee removed into another store, and remained there until the new one was erected, when he removed back to the new one. In a complaint by the lessee against the city for damages, it was held, that the plaintiff was entitled to recover the expenses of removing his goods from and back to his original place of business, and for the loss of earnings for the few days occupied in such removals, and a reasonable sum for the rent of another store for so long a time as would reasonably have been required for putting up a new front wall: (or, if he had suspended his business, that he might have recovered for the loss of earnings during a reasonable time for rebuilding the wall:) that he had a right forthwith to rebuild the wall, carrying it up to the roof, and if he had done so, inasmuch as he could not have compelled a contribution from the lessor, he would have been entitled to recover the whole cost from the city; but that, as in fact he did not put up the wall, but left the lessor to make his full claim of damages on the city, he could recover only such proportion of the estimated expense, as his interest, (regard being had to the portion of the store occupied by him and the time which his lease had to run,) bore to the value of the whole estate. Patterson v. City of Boston. (23 Pick. 425.)

10. The provisions of the preceding section were essentially modified by the act of 1833, c. 128, which provided, that the city council of the city of Boston, may from time to time, by any ordinance or ordinances, empower the surveyors of highways of said city so to regulate the width and height of the sidewalks of any public squares, places, streets, lanes or alleys, in said city, as shall, in the judgment of said surveyors, be most conducive to the convenience and interest of said city, any law of the commonwealth to the contrary notwithstanding; and may also empower said surveyors to accept such sidewalks, after the same shall be put in good and perfect repair by the abutters on said squares, places, streets, lanes and alleys, and after the same shall have been relinquished in writing to the said city by such abutters; and may also order, that, after such relinquishment, such sidewalks may be maintained at the expense of said city.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> A by-law of a city, requiring the owners or occupants of houses bordering on streets to clear the snow from the sidewalks adjoining their respective houses and lands, is not, strictly speaking, a by-law levying a tax; and inasmuch as the burden created by it is imposed on a numerous class, and upon all persons equally who come within the description of such class, and as they commonly derive a peculiar benefit from the duty required, and are peculiarly able to perform it, with the promptness, which the good of the community demands, the by-law is not partial and unequal, within the sense of the provision of the constitution, that assessments, rates and taxes, imposed and levied on the inhabitants of the commonwealth, shall be proportional and reasonable; but such by-law is reasonable and valid. Goddard, Petitioner, (16 Pick. 504.)

Such a by-law is not invalid on account of a part of the city peculiarly situated being expressly exempted from its operation. Ibid.

Ibid.

SECT. 45. Whenever the word "street" or "streets" is mentioned in this ordinance, it shall be understood as including alleys, lanes, courts, public squares and public places; and it shall also be understood as including the sidewalks, unless the contrary is expressed, or such construction would be inconsistent with the manifest intent of the city council.

Who shall be liable to penalties.

Rights and duties of surveyors of highways not limited by this ordinance.

payment, from the net income, rents, and receipts therefor, not only of the semi-annual interest, but ultimately of the principal also of the "Boston Water Scrip," so far as the same may be practicable and reasonable. And the said net surplus income, rents and receipts, after deducting all expenses and charges of distribution, shall be set apart as a sinking fund, and shall be appropriated for and towards the payment of the principal and interest of the said scrip; and shall, under the management, control, and direction of the mayor, treasurer, and auditor of the city, or the major part of them for the time being, who shall be trustees of the said fund, be applied solely to the use and purpose aforesaid, until the said scrip shall be fully paid and discharged. And the said trustees shall, whenever thereto required by the city council, render a just, true, and full account to the said city council, of all their receipts, payments, and doings under the provisions of this section.

16. At any time after the expiration of two years, from the completion of the works mentioned in the second section, and before the reimbursement of the principal of the "Boston Water Scrip" herein before mentioned, if the surplus income and receipts for the use of the water distributed under the provisions of this act, at the price established by the city council, after deducting all expenses and charges of distribution, shall, for any two successive years, be insufficient to pay the accruing interest on the said scrip, then the supreme judicial court, on the petition of one hundred or more of the legal voters of the said city, praying that the said price may be raised and increased so far as may be necessary for the purpose of paying, from the said surplus income and receipts, the said accruing interest, and upon due notice of the pendency of such petition given to the said city in such manner as the said court shall order, may appoint three commissioners, who, upon due notice to the parties interested, may raise and increase the said price, if they shall judge proper, so far as may be necessary, in their judgment, for the purpose aforesaid, and no farther. And the administration of all the fiscal, prudential, and municipal concerns of said city, with the conduct and government thereof, shall be vested in one principal officer, to be styled the mayor; one select council, consisting of eight persons, to be denominated the board of aldermen; and one more numerous council, to consist of forty-eight persons, to be denominated the common council; which boards, in their joint capacity, shall be denominated the city council, together with such other board of officers, as are herein after specified.

And it shall be in the power of the city council, herein after mentioned, from time to time, not oftener than once in ten years, to alter such divisions of wards, in such a manner as to preserve, as nearly as may be, an equal number of inhabitants in each ward.

SECT. 3. Be it further enacted, That on the second Monday of April, annually, the citizens of said city, qualified to vote in city affairs, shall meet together, within their respective wards, at such time and place, as the mayor and aldermen may, by their warrant, direct and appoint; and the said citizens shall then choose by ballot one warden and one clerk, who shall be resident in said ward, who shall hold their offices for one year, and until others shall be appointed in their stead. And it shall be the duty of such warden to preside at all meetings of the citizens of such ward, to preserve order therein; and it shall be the duty of such clerk, to make a fair and true record, and keep an exact journal of all the acts and votes of the citizens, at such ward meetings; to deliver over such records and journals, together with all other documents and papers held by him, in his said capacity, to his successor in such office. And if, at any other meeting, the warden shall be absent, the clerk, in such case, shall so preside, until a moderator or warden, pro tempore, shall be chosen; which may be done by nomination and hand vote, if the clerk so direct. And such warden shall also have power and authority, by warrant, under his hand, to cause any person or persons, who shall be guilty of any riotous, tumultuous, or disorderly conduct at such meeting, to be taken into custody, and restrained: provided however, That such restraint shall not continue after the adjournment or dissolution of such meeting: and provided further, that the person, so guilty of such disorderly conduct, shall be liable, notwithstanding such restraint, to be prosecuted and punished, in the same manner, as if such arrest had not been made.

And it shall be the duty of the city clerk, forthwith to enter such returns, or a plain and intelligible abstract of them, as they are successively received, upon the journal of the proceedings of the mayor and aldermen, or some other book to be kept for that purpose. But if, on such an examination, no person appears to have a majority of all the votes given for mayor, the mayor and aldermen, for the time being, shall issue their warrants for meetings of the respective wards, for the choice of a mayor, at such time and place, as they shall judge most convenient: And the same proceeding shall be had in all respects, as are herein before directed, until a mayor shall be chosen by a majority of all the voters, voting at such election. And each alderman, so chosen, shall be duly notified in writing, of his election, by the mayor and aldermen for the time being.

And further, the said mayor and aldermen shall have full and exclusive power to grant licenses to innholders, victuallers, retailers and confectioners, within the said city, in all cases wherein the court of sessions for the county of Suffolk, on the recommendation of the selectmen of Boston, have heretofore been authorized to grant such licenses; and in granting such licenses, it shall be lawful for the said mayor and aldermen to annex thereto such reasonable conditions in regard to time, places, and other circumstances, under which such license shall be acted upon, as, in their judgment, the peace, quiet and good order of the city may require. Also to take bonds of all persons so licensed, in reasonable sums, and with sufficient sureties, conditioned for a faithful compliance with the terms of their said licenses, and of all laws and regulations respecting such licensed houses: And said mayor and aldermen, after the granting of any such license, shall have power to revoke or suspend the same, if in their judgment the order and welfare of said city shall require it. representatives to congress, and all other officers, who are to be chosen and voted for by the people, shall be held at meetings of the citizens, qualified to vote in such elections, in their respective wards, at the time fixed by law for those elections respectively. And at such meetings, all the votes given in, being collected, sorted, counted and declared, by the inspectors of elections, in each ward, it shall be the duty of the clerk of such ward to make a true record of the same, specifying therein the whole number of ballots given in, the name of each person voted for, and the number of votes for each, expressed in words at length. And in all elections for representatives to general court, in case the whole number proposed to be elected, shall not be chosen by a majority of the votes legally returned, the mayor and aldermen shall forthwith issue their warrant for a new election, and the same proceedings shall be had in all respects as are herein before directed, until the whole number shall be elected: Provided however, That it shall be the duty of the selectmen of the said town of Boston, within twelve days from the passing of this Act, to call a meeting of the qualified voters

And it shall be the duty of the selectmen to preside at the said meeting, to receive, sort, count and declare the votes given in, and to forward a certificate of the result to the secretary of the commonwealth, and publish the same in two or more of the newspapers printed in Boston; and if a majority of the votes so given in shall be in the negative, then the provisions of the preceding part of this section shall regulate the said elections in wards; but if a majority of the votes given in as aforesaid shall be in the affirmative, then the said elections for state and United States officers shall be holden in the manner prescribed by the constitution and laws of the commonwealth, with the exception that the mayor and aldermen and city clerk shall perform the duties now required by law to be performed by the selectmen and town clerk.

And it shall be the duty of said mayor and aldermen to deliver such list of the voters in each ward, so prepared and corrected, to the clerk of said ward, to be used by the warden and inspectors thereof at such election; and no person shall be entitled to vote at such election, whose name is not borne on such list. And to prevent all frauds and mistakes in such elections, it shall be the duty of the inspectors, in each ward, to take care that no person shall vote at such election, whose name is not so borne on the list of voters, and to cause a mark to be placed against the name of each voter, on such list, at the time of giving in his vote.

And such meetings shall and may be duly warned by the mayor and aldermen, upon the requisition of fifty qualified voters of said city.

Warrants for meetings to be issued by mayor and aldermen.

SECT. 26. Be it further enacted, That all warrants for the meetings of the citizens, for municipal purposes, to be had either in general meetings or in wards, shall be issued by the mayor and aldermen, and shall be in such form, and shall be served, executed, and returned at such time, and in such manner, as the city council may, by any by-law, direct and appoint.

And at said first meeting, the clerk of each ward, under the present organization, shall call the citizens to order, and preside until a warden shall be chosen; and at said first meeting, a list of voters in each ward, prepared and corrected by the selectmen of the town of Boston, for the time being, shall be delivered to the clerk of each ward, to be used as herein before directed.

SECT. 28. Be it further enacted, That so much of the Repeal of acts. act heretofore passed, relative to the establishment of a board of health for the town of Boston, as provides for the choice of members of the said board, and so much of the several acts relative to the assessment and collection of taxes within the town of Boston, as provides for the election of assistant assessors, also all such acts, and parts of acts, as come within the purview of this act, and which are inconsistent with, or repugnant to the provisions of this act, shall be, and the same are hereby repealed.

SECT. 29. And whereas by the laws of this commonwealth, towns are authorized and required to hold their annual meetings, some time in the months of March or April, in each year, for the choice of town officers; and whereas, such meeting, in the month of March, in the present year, for the town of Boston, would be useless and unnecessarily burthensome; Therefore,

RULES AND REGULATIONS OF THE HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

DUTIES OF THE MASTER.

The master, under the direction of the overseers, shall have the control and management of all who are employed in the house of correction, as watchmen, superintendents, or in any the like capacity, and such officers shall be required to follow his directions, at all times, unless otherwise directed by the overseers. He shall also have the entire management and control of the convicts, subject to the rules and regulations legally established, and such directions as he may from time to time receive from the overseers. It shall be the duty of the master to report to the overseers, at the stated weekly meetings, at least one week before the same shall be needed, all such articles as may be wanted for the uses of the institution.

He shall also, in case any prisoner shall be about to leave, who may require a supply of clothing on going out, make a report thereof, at least one week beforehand, to the overseers, so that they may be suitably provided with the same, and also in cases where some pecuniary aid may be thought proper, which shall not exceed in amount five dollars in any case. The master shall regularly make a weekly report to the board of the number of committals and discharges of the past week, of the mode of employment of the inmates, stating the numbers of both sexes so employed, of goods received during the week for manufacture or use, of those who may be sick, with such remarks as may be suitable, and of the punishments that may have been inflicted during that time, or other occurrences of moment to the institution. And he shall, at all times, make such further communications or returns, as the overseers may desire. The master shall cause to be kept regular books, showing the quantity and amount of articles received at the institution for the supply of the wants of the same; all materials to be wrought by the inmates, and the amount, kind, and value of the work done by them, and also any moneys received for sales of produce or otherwise, and he shall keep such an account with each inmate as shall show, as near as may be, the actual amount of his or her earnings; these books to be at all times open to the examination of the overseers. He shall have charge of all materials of labor, and shall give out the same in suitable quantities for supplying the convicts with work, and he shall appoint the kind and quantity of work required of each, subject to the direction of the overseers. He shall countersign every bill for articles delivered at the house, for the purpose of showing that the same have been received. The watchmen, under the direction of the master, shall keep watch during the night time, in such manner and for such periods as he shall determine; and shall, during the day time, perform such other duties as he shall require.

The master shall have a system of rules for conducting the prison, to be approved by the overseers, and to be read in the chapel, at least once a month, to all the inmates.

DUTIES OF CHAPLAIN.

It shall be the duty of the chaplain to perform divine service on each Lord's day, and to visit the sick, and instruct the convicts in their moral and religious duties, and to report to the board any special cases which may fall under his cognizance for consideration, and he shall do such other things, in his said capacity, as the overseers may require of him.

DUTIES OF THE CLERK OF THE OVERSEERS.

He shall be present at all business hours at the office of the overseers, to attend to the business of the office, and at all meetings of the board, and keep exact and fair records of all their doings. He shall keep regular books of account, with an entry of all purchases and moneys paid out, and of all moneys received and paid over to the city treasurer. Shall make record of such returns as he may be directed by the overseers, and keep regular files of such papers as may be placed in his custody. He shall examine all bills and collect all moneys due to the institution, and pay over the same, when collected, immediately to the city treasurer, as provided for in the ordinance of the city made for that purpose, and he shall, under the direction of the overseers, make such purchases for the institution, and do all such other acts as the overseers may from time to time require of him.

DUTIES OF THE PHYSICIAN.

It shall be the duty of the physician to visit the house every day, and as much oftener as may be necessary, and to examine carefully into every case of sickness and inability to labor, and to prescribe such medicines and such course of diet as he may deem proper. It shall be his duty to furnish the overseers from time to time a list of such medicines as may be wanted for the house, and to report to the overseers any neglect or improper conduct on the part of the nurses, or those in attendance, that may come to his knowledge. No critical surgical operation or amputation of a limb shall be performed, excepting in case of urgent necessity requiring immediate action, without the sanction of the overseers. He shall keep a journal of patients in the hospital, designating the time of entry of each, with the nature of the complaint and treatment, and the time of discharge or death.

This journal shall at all times be open to the inspection of the overseers. The sustenance and diet of those in the hospital shall be regulated by the physician, whose requistions shall be in writing, and shall in no case be given for a longer term than one week. He shall make a return once in every quarter to the overseers of all cases which have come under his care.

GENERAL REGULATIONS.

All bills, before payment, shall be approved by the chairman, at a regular meeting of the board, excepting in cases where purchases are made of persons residing out of the city, and immediate payment is necessary, when the bills may be approved by the chairman and one other member of the board.

The overseers shall, as a board, visit and examine the institution in all its parts, at least once in a month and a record shall be made of the doings of such visit and the result of the examination.

The overseers shall appoint such subordinate officers, assistants and clerks as they may find necessary, and shall fix their compensation, unless otherwise provided for by the ordinances of the city.

No persons, excepting the city council and the board of accounts, shall have a right to enter the premises of the institution without a permit from a member of the board of overseers.

The convicts, during the whole time when they are not taken out for work, or other purposes by order of the master, shall be kept locked in their respective cells, in no case more than one being allowed to each cell, and while so shut up, shall preserve perfect silence, speaking to no one, except in cases of illness, in which case they shall be allowed to speak to the officer then in charge of the cells. They shall be taken out for work, on all days but Sundays or other holidays specially excepted, at sunrise, and shall labor at the work assigned them until sunset, allowing a half hour's respite for each meal, when they shall be reconducted to their cells, receiving their food at some convenient place as they go. When they are taken out or returned to their cells, the males and females shall move at different times, allowing a sufficient interval for those of one sex to be entirely removed from observation, before those of the other are allowed to move; and they shall enter and go out at doors on different parts of the building, so as effectually to prevent their meeting. On Sundays, at the times of public worship, the females shall be conducted into the chapel, and seated beyond the screen, and afterwards the males shall be conducted in. During the times when they are moving to and from the chapel, or at and from their workshops, entire silence and the most perfect order and decorum shall be maintained, and the master shall introduce such regulations as to the precise manner in which they shall proceed, on these occasions, as he shall find to be suited to preserve order and regularity. Their food, which must always be eaten in their cells, shall be as follows—The daily sustenance of the convicts, not in the hospital, shall consist of the following rations: 16 ounces No. 1 beef, or 12 ounces No. 1 pork, 10 ounces fine flour, 5 ounces Indian meal, 1 gill molasses, for each prisoner; and for every 100 rations  $2\frac{1}{2}$  bushels potatoes, 2 quarts vinegar, 4 quarts salt, 2 ounces black pepper.

All the convicts shall have on clean shirts and stockings, and such other clothes as the master shall determine, every Sunday morning, and as much oftener as he shall direct; and the males shall also be required to be fresh shaved at the same time. No spirituous liquors shall be allowed to be drank, nor shall any prisoner be allowed to have tobacco in any shape.

No officer shall receive any perquisite, in any shape, in addition to the compensation fixed by the overseers, and no trafficking shall be allowed between the officers and the convicts. There shall be allowed no trafficking among the convicts, and they shall not be allowed to receive any thing from without the house, or hold any intercourse with persons outside the house, without express permission from the master or overseers. When there shall be visitors present, no convict shall be allowed to address them without permission, except in answer to such questions as may be asked by the judges of the board of accounts, or members of the city government, authorized to examine into the state of the establishment, and any one intruding upon visitors shall be liable to punishment.

For every failure, or refusal to comply with the foregoing requirements, for any insolent or insubordinate behavior while at work, or at other times, for any neglect or refusal to obey the orders of the master, or those having charge of the convicts by his direction, for gross or profane language towards the officers or each other, for defacing the cells or any of their furniture, or any part of the premises, and for any want of decent and proper deportment in the chapel, or in the presence of the chaplain, the convicts shall be punished by being kept upon bread and water, in solitary confinement for a time not exceeding ten days. And no convict shall be confined for a longer time than twenty-four hours, without authority from the overseers in writing; and no corporeal punishment, of any kind or degree, shall be allowed in any case, except that in flagrant and obstinate cases of insubordination, the use of the shower bath may be permitted, under the direction and limitation of the overseers, and in presence of one of their number. And it shall be the duty of the master to have any convict in solitary confinement visited by the physician once a day during that confinement.

ORIGIN OF THE HOUSE OF INDUSTRY.

At a meeting of the freeholders and other inhabitants of the town of Boston, holden at Faneuil Hall, on Monday, March 12, 1821, and adjourned to March 13, certain petitions on the subject of erecting a workhouse were read.

Origin of the house of industry.

Whereupon it was voted, that the subject be referred to a committee of thirteen, to be nominated from the chair; the said committee to consider the subject at large and report, and that the report be printed and distributed among the inhabitants; and the selectmen were requested to call a meeting to act on said report. The following gentlemen were nominated and appointed on the committee, viz: Hon. Josiah Quincy, Joseph Lovering, James Savage, Henry J. Oliver, Francis Welsh, Joseph May, Thomas Howe, William Thurston, Abraham Babcock, Samuel A. Wells, James T. Austin, Benjamin Rich and Joseph Woodward, Esqrs.

Boston Records
vol. 10, pp. 290, 296.

At a subsequent meeting, on Monday, May 7, 1821, the committee appointed on the 12th day of March, "on the subject of pauperism at large, and on the expediency of erecting a work house," within the said town, made a long report, in which they express themselves as unanimously of opinion, that the accommodations, provided for the poor at the almshouse in Boston, are not such as comport with the honor and interests of the town; and that, in aid of the present establishment, a workhouse, to be denominated a House of Industry, should be erected, with a sufficient quantity of land attached to it, &c.; and submitted the following votes, which were passed.

Ibid, pp. 305, 307.

Voted, That it is expedient to establish, forthwith, within this town, a House of Industry.

Ibid, p. 326.

Voted, That a committee be appointed consisting of persons, with full authority to select a suitable place for the erection of a House of Industry, with an extent of land, attached to it, not less than fifty acres; and that the said committee be authorized to take any of the unappropriated lands, belonging to the town, for that purpose; or, in case they deem any other spot, or like extent of land, within the town, a better location for such an establishment than any the town now possesses, that they be authorized to purchase the same; and that the said committee be instructed to proceed forthwith to erect suitable buildings, and to form a system for the conduct of such institution; and to report their proceedings, in the premises, from time to time, to the town, as they may deem expedient.

Voted, That the committee appointed by the preceding vote, be authorized to draw on the town treasurer for such sum, or sums of money, as may from time to time be found necessary, for the carrying into effect the purposes therein expressed; provided always that the amount of said drafts shall never exceed twenty thousand dollars.

Voted, That the report this day made to the town on the subject of pauperism and a house of industry, be referred to the committee appointed by the preceding votes, and that they be instructed to take into consideration the various subjects suggested in it, and particularly to inquire into the general state of the poor, within the town, and concerning the operations, effects, modes, and principles of extending relief to the poor, adopted by the various charitable institutions existing in it; and from time to time to report such measures in relation to the whole, or any, of the subjects aforesaid, as they may deem it expedient for the town to adopt.

Ibid, p. 334.

Hon. Josiah Quincy, Joseph Lovering, James Savage, Henry J. Oliver, Francis Welsh, Ebenezer Francis, Thomas Howe, William Thurston, Abram Babcock, Samuel A. Wells, James T. Austin, Benjamin Rich, and Joseph Woodward, Esquires, were nominated from the chair and appointed a committee, in conformity to the second vote.

Ibid, pp. 388, 410.

At a meeting of the freeholders, &c., held by adjournment from September 25, 1821, on October 22, 1821, the chairman of the committee made a long report, stating that the committee had procured a tract of land at South Boston, containing fifty-three acres, owned by Samuel Brown, Esq., and were proceeding with the work of erection; and that the establishment was then advancing to the third story. The thanks of the town were voted to the chairman Ibid, p. 430. and members of the committee, and the sum of $6,000 in addition to that previously voted, was placed at their disposal.

The committee made a further report March 28, 1822; Ibid, pp. 462, 473. and it was voted that the sum of $15,000 be put at their disposition. They were also instructed to prepare a system for the general conduct and management and discipline of said house, and of the land connected with it, and lay the same before the city authorities as soon as practicable after their organization.

May 3, 1822, the committee represented, that they apprehend, that the power of devising rules for the management and discipline of the institution is vested in the board of overseers of the poor, under the act of 8 and 9 George II., (1735); and the committee therefore postponed any action in relation to this duty, until the action of the city council; and they suggest either an application to the legislature, or a reference of the subject matter to the board of overseers. This report was read and committed to a joint committee. City Records, vol. 1, p. 7.

May 7, 1822, the joint committee on the subject recommended a reference of the matter to the board of overseers of the poor and the committee for building the house of industry conjointly; which report was read and accepted. Ibid, p. 12.

May 24, 1822, the board and committee made a report recommending an application to the legislature for an act, authorizing the establishment of a new board; which report was read and committed. Ibid, p. 30.

June 4, 1822, the committee reported a bill to be presented to the general court. Ibid, p. 36.

Sept. 16, 1822, the committee for building the house of industry reported the house as substantially completed; and stated that a balance of expense of $5,406.71 remained, for which provision was yet to be made. The report was read and committed. Ibid, p. 79.

May 21, 1823, $8,000 was appropriated for completing the house of industry, outbuildings, fences, and for the purpose of stock, furniture, &c., and for carrying the said Ibid, p. 221.

house of industry into effective operation, and the directors of the said house of industry were authorized to draw their warrants on the city treasurer therefor from time to time as occasion might require.

After the erection of the house of industry, there appears to have been considerable difficulty between the directors of the institution, the city council and the overseers of the poor, respecting the rights and duties of the latter in relation to the poor. The following report and resolutions, drawn up by Mr. Quincy, the mayor, were accepted and adopted by the city council May 12, 1825.

Mr Quincy's report. (Accepted by the city council May 12, 1825.)

"The committee of both branches of the city council, to whom was referred the application of the overseers of the poor, for the providing of a suitable house for the accommodation of the poor and distressed, and expressing their readiness to take the oversight, care and government of such house, respectfully report :

"That such a house is already provided in this city, established by law, and placed under the oversight and care of the directors of the house of industry, who are invested in this respect by the statutes of this commonwealth, with all the powers and authorities "had and exercised by overseers of the poor," that the state of this house under the wise and active management of those directors is, in every respect satisfactory ; the poor of every class content ; and the moral and physical condition of the inmates placed upon a new system, calculated to ameliorate both in as high a degree as, in the nature of things is possible under the wise arrangements of these directors, annually chosen by and responsible to the city council.

"While your committee are happy in being thus able to state the results and prospects of this institution, they are not less gratified, that the city council are able, consistent with the legally invested rights of the directors of that house, to avail themselves in relation to it of the general aid of the overseers of the poor, and at the same time to grant them all the practical and useful facilities, relative to providing for the poor, which from the tenor of their application they desire ; and thus the general arrangements of the poor of the city enjoy the advantage of the intelligence and experience of the members of both the overseers of the poor and of the directors of the house of industry.

“Their general views will be developed in the subjoined resolutions, which they respectfully report to the city council for its consideration and adoption.

“Resolved, (1) That the overseers of the poor be and they are hereby authorized and requested to grant permits for the admission of any person, in their judgment entitled to receive the support of the city in the tenement of the city denominated the House of Industry at South Boston, in like manner as the directors of said house are authorized by law; and that the superintendent of said house be and he hereby is authorized and directed to receive and take charge of persons to whom such permits have been granted; and to provide for their relief, support, and employment” in said house, according to the regulations, and under the superintendence of the directors of the House of Industry.

“Resolved, (2) That the overseers of the poor be and they hereby are authorized and requested, at their discretion, with, or without notice, to visit the establishment called the House of Industry at South Boston, to inquire into the condition, treatment and employment of the poor who may be inmates therein, and to make such representations and suggestions, from time to time, to the city council, in relation to their said condition, treatment and employment, as their wisdom and experience may suggest.

“Resolved, (3) That the mayor and aldermen be and they hereby are authorized to provide a suitable vehicle for the conveyance to the House of Industry, of sick, decrepid persons, or those otherwise incapacitated from going of themselves to such house, and that the same be, at all times, subject to the order of the overseers of the poor, and of the directors of the House of Industry, for the purpose above specified.”

Subsequently to the adoption of these resolutions, a committee of the city council, to whom was referred a communication from the overseers of the poor, reported that they had laid the whole subject before counsel learned in the law, Hon. William Prescott, Charles Jackson and Daniel Webster, Esquires; and the committee reported the following resolves which were passed.

“Resolved, That the overseers of the poor be and they hereby are directed to cause all persons who, from the nature of the illness under which they labor, or of the accident which has befallen them, are incapable, without endangering life, to be removed from the place where they are, to be relieved and supported in such place, until they are capable so to be removed, and as soon as they are capable of being removed, the said overseers are directed to cause them forthwith to be removed for further relief and support to the House of Industry.

“Resolved, That the overseers of the poor be, and they hereby are directed, as it respects those householders and others, who in their opinion require partial relief, and who may be rendered more comfortable by a small supply at their own houses, than by being wholly supported in a poor house, to grant such partial relief and small supply of necessities at their own houses.

“Resolved, That the overseers of the poor be, and they hereby are directed to see that all poor and indigent persons, having lawful settlement in the city of Boston, and standing in need of relief, other than those belonging to the classes specified in the two preceding resolves, to be suitably relieved, supported and employed in the House of Industry, according to the regulations and under the superintendence of the directors of said house.”
